PLACES BURDEN OF BLAME ON CAPTAIN

Dead Commander of Titanic Censured for Failure to Heed Repeated Warnings of Icebergs.

SENATE COMMITTEE REPORT IS MADE

Captain Lord, of Californian, Scored for Disregarding Distress Signals-- Mere Mention of Ismay.

Washington, May 28.--Blame for the Titanic disaster is chargeable directly to the failure of the dead Captain Smith to heed repeated warnings of icebergs ahead, but responsibility for unnecessary loss of life must be shared by Captain Lord, of the steamship Californian, through his disregard of distress signals. This is the finding of the senate committee which investigated the sinking of the Titanic, as prepared in a comprehensive speech delivered by William Alden Smith, of Michigan, chairman of the committee.

Senator Smith declared that responsibility also rests upon the British board of trade, "to whose laxity of regulation, and hasty inspection, the world is largely indebted for the awful fatality." In denouncing Captain Lord, of the Californian, the senator said the Titanic's distress signals were plainly seen from the deck of his vessel, a short distance away.

America will leave to England the chastisement of those guilty, asserted the senator, and he quoted British law to show that Captain Lord might be prosecuted for a misdemeanor.

Other conclusions presented, in brief, were as follows:

Before the Titanic departed on her maiden voyage there were no sufficient tests of boilers, bulkheads, equipment or signal devices.

Officers and crew were strangers to each other and not familiar with the ship's implements or tools, and no drill or station practice took place, and no helpful discipline prevailed.

The speed of the Titanic was twenty-four and one-half miles an hour at the time of the accident, although officers of the Titanic had been advised of the presence of icebergs by the steamships Baltic, America and Californian.

Passengers were not advised of danger, although President Ismay, of the White Star line, who was taking the vessel's maiden voyage, was informed.

No general alarm was given nor any organized system of safety undertaken.

Of the 1,324 passengers and 899 members of crew on board, there was room in the lifeboats for only 1,176 persons, and because of lack of orderly discipline the boats took off only 704 persons, 12 being rescued from the water.

Officers of the White Star line "battled with the truth" after receiving information from their Montreal office Monday morning following the accident.

Senator Smith condemned "antiquated laws and obsolete administrative machinery" and asked that all nations get together in shipping reforms.

"The laws," he said, "will best testify affection for the dead."

Captain Rostron, of the rescue ship Carpathia, was praised by Senator Smith, and he urged that congress recognize his valor.

WILBUR WRIGHT SLOWLY SINKING

Premier in Science of Aviation Can Live But Few Hours.

HOPE IS ABANDONED

Dayton, O., May 28.--Wilbur Wright, premier in the science of aerial navigation, is slowly sinking at his home on Hawthorne street, this city, and his physicians say he cannot live longer than a few hours. All hope has been abandoned by the members of the family.

Heroic measures were adopted by his physicians in the final hope that the distinguished patient might be revived, but without effect. His temperature continues to hover about the 104 mark, his pulsation gradually grows weaker and the respiration more irregular.

PREPARING FOR STATE EDITORS

Fort Wayne Meeting Next Week Will Be of Special Importance.

ALL FOR DEMOCRACY

It is an assumed fact throughout the state that the Indiana Democratic Editorial association in the past has never featured prominently as an organization of much activity, and the cause of this is due, it is also assumed, to the strenuous tasks and close business attention of its members to other affairs. This year, however, if present plans are carried out, the annual convention of the association, to be held in Fort Wayne June 6 to 8, will be one of the biggest meetings in the state during the summer, and also one of the most important in view of the forthcoming political campaign.

So important is the meeting expected to be that most of the leading Indiana newspapers, will send special correspondents to Fort Wayne to be in on the ground.

CARRIES FIGHT TO FINAL HOUR

Taft Talks to New Jersey Voters on Their Way to the Polls.

BOTH MAKING CLAIMS

Newark, N. Y., May 28.--More than half a million voters in New Jersey today have their opportunity to influence the selection of presidential candidates next month at Chicago and Baltimore. The campaign for primary votes in this state has been waged with vigor, and the results will carry the weight attached to the last state primary verdict upon personal campaigns by the presidential candidates.

Theodore Roosevelt went to his home in Oyster Bay last night to stay there until after the republican convention, except for a trip to Gettysburg, Pa., on Thursday for a Memorial day address.

President Taft, however, sent out from Atlantic City this morning to make a final appeal to voters, actually on the way to the polls. He will make the last speech of his New Jersey campaign at Glassboro at noon.

New Jersey, of late years, has been a hard state for the political prophets to understand. A large part of the voting population is employed outside the state, in New York and Philadelphia. Of the remaining large divisions are factory workers and farmers. How these various elements will vote today is difficult to tell. Both the Taft and Roosevelt managers predict sweeping pluralities for their respective candidates. Senator La Follette's friends declare that he will make a good showing.

Superb summer weather prevailed throughout the state during the forenoon. The voting hours--1 p. m. to 9 p. m.--have been set for the special convenience of the commuter population, and the heaviest vote is expected during the last three hours the polls are open.

The opponents of electing "uninstructed" delegates to this city, twenty-eight delegates will be chosen today, four at large and two from each of the twelve congressional districts. In addition the ballots have a place for a direct presidential vote.

MADE LONG INSPECTION TRIP.

Dr. George Gillie Found Dairies in the County in Good Condition.

Dr. George W. Gillie and Mark Hall, of the health department, made a trip of sixty-five miles yesterday in the course of which they inspected dairies and slaughter houses at Mayville, Grabbill, Leo and Spencerville and reported that they found all in good condition. Part of the milk and meat supplies for Fort Wayne come from these points.

He has finished plans for a new and model dairy barn which is to be erected by Rowe & Steele on the Yellow River road.

OKLAHOMA TOWN IS WIPED OUT BY STORM.

Tulsa, Okla., May 28.--Meager advices received here by telephone from a point near the town of Skiatook, fifteen miles north, say the town was practically wiped out by a storm early today and that a score of persons are known to have been killed. Many are reported injured. All wires now are down and details of the disaster will not be obtainable until news is received from a relief party which has gone to the scene.

GET A SUMMONS TO OYSTER BAY

Colonel Wants to Talk It Over With Illinois Delegates.

BOTH MAKING CLAIMS

Chicago, May 28.--The Illinois delegates who have been instructed to vote for Col. Roosevelt for republican presidential nominee were invited today to visit Oyster Bay next Saturday and discuss the situation with Col. Roosevelt. The invitation came through Medill McCormick.

The object of the meeting, the leaders said, was to discuss plans for concerted action by the central states delegates in advancing the candidacy of Col. Roosevelt and also to aid in gaining control of the convention.

Ormsby McHarg, who has charge of the Roosevelt contests for delegates declared that his preparations were practically complete for the contest committee hearings which are to begin June 6. He said that regardless of the outcome of the delegate contests, Col. Roosevelt would be the republican nominee.

"There will be about 260 contests," said Mr. McHarg, "and we expect to win at least a majority of them. Roosevelt, however, can be nominated without winning a contest. President Taft knows this and has known it for weeks. Col. Roosevelt is the only republican who can be elected."

Mr. McHarg declared that he expected to win the contests on the Indiana delegates at large where the attack is aimed at Col. Harry S. New, chairman of the sub-committee on arrangements for the national convention. Notice of contests was received from the 13th Indiana district today.

Credentials from 960 of the 1,078 delegates have been received by Secretary Hayward. In the list are the names of two women delegates at large elected in the California direct primary. They are Mrs. Florence Collins Porter and Mrs. Isabella W. Blaney, of San Francisco.

SHOT DEAD IN HIS CELL.

Kentucky Officers Compelled to Kill Negro Prisoner.

Williamsburg, Ky., May 28.--In a desperate hand-to-hand fight with two officers, Robert Linsey, a negro, was shot dead in his cell in the jail here yesterday.

Linsey was brought here from Corbin on a police warrant and when ordered to come out of his cell by Judge Sampson yesterday refused. Deputy Sheriff Morgan and Constable Mat Lawson entered the cell and Linsey at once attacked them. He was getting the better of them, both officers claim, when one fired the fatal shot.

BEEF AT TOP NOTCH PRICE.

New York, May 28.--The highest price since 1882 was reached by beef in the wholesale market here yesterday, when it sold at 13 1/2 cents a pound in bulk. It is said to mean from 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound increase for prime meats at retail.

MRS. BEACH COMPLETES NEW YORK-CHICAGO WALK.

Chicago, May 28.--Mrs. David Beach completed a journey on foot from New York to Chicago today and gave to Mayor Harrison a message which she received from Mayor Gaynor. During the long walk, which consumed a little more than forty-two days, Mrs. Beach subsisted on uncooked food of a vegetarian nature.

MAY SEND AMERICAN TROOPS INTO THE INTERIOR OF CUBA

United States Prepared to Protect Interests, Even Though Gomez Objects to Such a Course.

Washington, May 28.--The United States is prepared to send marines and blue jackets to the interior of Cuba for the protection of American and foreign interests where no Cuban forces are available for that purpose, even though President Gomez should object to such a course.

It is emphatically held at the state department that American marines and navy officers are expected to take such measures as become necessary to protect foreign plantations as well as American citizens. No foreign government has as yet communicated with the United States on the subject of protecting its interests and it is understood this government aims to make such action unnecessary.

Now that President Taft has replied to the message of President Gomez, this government is confident that with a clearer understanding of the purpose of American military forces in Cuban waters, there will be no further objection to the disposition of ships and men for the protection of all interests.

Cuba was officially notified as early as last Friday that it was the purpose of the United States to concentrate a naval force in Cuban waters. It is now known that the demonstration was not an impulsive movement, but part of a general and carefully prepared plan on the part of the United States to restore order in Cuba, first by moral influence if possible and by intervention in a political sense only as a last resort.

To avoid taking the Cuban government by surprise, the state department last Friday called in Senor Carrillo de Albornoz, charge of the Cuban legation here, and it was explained to him that while it was the purpose of the government to send a naval force to Cuba it was only intended to have such force in position to protect American lives and interests, only if it should become apparent that the Cuban government was unable to control the situation.

ARTHUR M. BEAUPRE, United States Minister to Cuba.

Officials here believe that President Gomez was perfectly aware of the intentions of the United States even before he received from the United States minister, Mr. Beaupre, notice of the approaching rendezvous of the fleet at Key West. President Gomez's public protest is taken here to have been a move calculated to assure the Cuban people that he was not seeking to maintain his administration in power through American influence.

HOLDS LIQUOR DEALER LIABLE

Responsible for Sale to a Drunken Man Who Committed Murder.

VERDICT HELD GOOD

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.--A judgment for $1,500 damages against a saloonkeeper for selling liquor to a drunken man who because so crazed from its use that he shot and killed another man, was today affirmed by the appellate court. The suit was brought in Huntington county on the bond of John S. Brown, the saloonkeeper, by the wife and children of Thomas Sowers.

Sowers when intoxicated, quarreled with Benjamin Thomas and shot and killed him. He was convicted and sent to the state prison. His imprisonment caused the "loss of support" by his family and for this the jury allowed $1,500. The appeal was taken by the American Surety company which had signed Brown's bond. The company contended that the local option law of 1908 rendered or suspended the statute under the bond was given and the liquor sold and destroyed the right action. The court held that it had no such effect.

NEW TARIFF PLAN AS A COMPROMISE

Senator Newlands Proposes Gradual Reduction of Duties.

LITTLE EACH YEAR.

Washington, May 28.--A compromise tariff plan designed to inaugurate reduction of duties so as to avoid impairing any American industry was offered today by Senator Newlands as an amendment to the house steel bill. It proposes a ten per cent. reduction on Jan. 1, from certain duties and a further reduction of 5 per cent on Jan. 1 of each year, for four years thereafter, until the total reduction of 30 per cent. shall have been made.

A non-partisan tariff commission of five members appointed by the president would determine to what products the reduction should apply.

Senator Newlands said today that his purpose was not to endorse the protection principle, but to recognize that protection duties had stimulated industries, which must suffer by any radical change.

HORSE SENSE

THE ART of making artificial flowers and foliage has advanced in recent years almost to the point of perfection. It is now a common thing to find roses, for instance, that imitate the real flower to that degree of perfection that when a dainty scent is given them they deceive even the most careful observer. Much of this advancement is due to the lessened use of stuffed birds for millinery adornment, in response to the cry of humanity for the protection of the feathered tribe of aviators. Yaver, therefore, since flowers have come into universal use, have the ladies' bonnets been so beautifully ornamented, no matter what we may think of the shapes.

Well, this is merely the foundation. Here is the story:

Mrs. Frank D. Bond, of 1226 West Jefferson street, was waiting at the transfer corner for a Jefferson car, it was before the short line was restored. She, with a company of friends, passed the moments chatting pleasantly, so that Mrs. Bond gave little heed to the fact that something had touched her hat, necessitating a readjustment of it. The crowd was large and restless, and Mrs. Bond had a subconscious feeling that someone had unintentionally brushed against her headgear. However, an extra hard pull at her hat a moment later caused her to make an impulsive grab at her millinery to keep it from escaping. It was lucky that she did so. A horse, attached to a carriage standing at the curb had taken a good big nibble at the tuft of artificial grass on the hat and had actually chewed off a section of the make-believe pasturage. Repairs were made the next day, and the hat, with a new tuft of green, is again in service.

LEICHTY MADE A BREAK FOR DOOR

Escaped from Police and Gave the Officers Fast Foot Race.

WESTERMAN GOT HIM

As Louis Leichty was being taken from the witness stand in his cell court room this morning back to his cell, he made a break for the door at the foot of the stairway leading to the south entrance at the city building, bounded up the stairway and out on the street before the officers realized what was up.

At Clinton and Wayne streets Patrolman Charles Westerman was waiting for a car to take him home and he made a flying tackle in which he landed his man and held him until the pursuing party came up.

Stationmaster Joe Degitz was leading the chase with Louis Crawley, Lieutenant George Isenburt, Mart McCudden, Harry Lowry and Deputy Prosecutor Steve Callahan in the order named. The fellow put up a fight after he was captured.

He is a foreigner and about 1 o'clock this morning he was out on Buchanan street testing out an electric flashlight. Madden talked the matter over with him a while then searched him and found one revolver, one dagger and one pocket knife, in addition to the flashlight, which is considered contraband goods.

He was sent in and his actions today indicated that he is not very well balanced and he was sent over to wait until the police can make an investigation. He told Officer Madden he sold a motorcycle in Lima and that he took the flashlight and the other things he had in part payment.

A. J. VESEY HAD TALK WITH NEW

Harry G. Hogan Appointed Sergeant-at-Arms in Convention.

HE IS A TAFT MAN

A. J. Vesey, chairman of the Twelfth district republicans, returned this morning from Chicago, where he met Harry S. New, who has charge of the arrangements for the national convention. Mr. Vesey states that Mr. New is the busiest man in the Windy City, his time being occupied chiefly by refusing reservations to a large majority of those seeking seats in the convention hall.

Among other things Mr. New made the announcement that he has appointed Harry G. Hogan, of this city, to serve as one of the Indiana sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Hogan was not aware that his name was being considered and the appointment came as a surprise. This gives the Twelfth district two sergeants in the convention, and also one representing each party faction. Mr. Hogan is one of Taft's strongest supporters in the district. Some time ago, through the efforts of Louis N. Litman, of Lagrange, Mr. New consented to the appointment of Robert Dickson, also of this city, as one of the Indiana representatives. Mr. Dickson is an avowed Roosevelt worker and at the time his appointment was made public much surprise resulted that a Roosevelt man should be given the job by Mr. New.

Mr. Vesey states that the district will be well represented at the Chicago meeting. Every republican who can possibly spare the time from business is planning to attend the convention. No special train will be operated from this city owing to the extreme difficulty encountered in securing a siding for the cars. Mr. Vesey was informed by Mr. New that arrangements for seating the convention delegates had about been completed, and most of the time now is devoted to quieting those who desire seats and are refused on account of a lack of accommodations.

PREPARING FOR STATE EDITORS

ground floor of the state democracy in preparation for the coming campaign. Information has also reached the city that most of the Chicago newspapers will send special writers to take care of the news emanating from the convention chamber, and especially to listen to the addresses to be given on Friday evening, June 7, by Governor Marshall, Hon. S. L. Easton, congressman Cyrus Cline, and Congressman Cyrus Cline.

With these new speakers, the men Governor Marshall as a candidate for the presidential nomination, it is believed by leading democrats that the meeting will be the official beginning of the active campaign in Indiana. It is democratic campaign in Indiana. It is needless to say that the state editors will lend their support to Governor Marshall and his candidacy, for at this early date most of them have already pledged to work untiringly for his success at the Baltimore convention.

Great preparations are being made to entertain the visitors. Senator Stephen R. Fleming is in charge of the arrangements and with John Wessel and Charles Biedewolf lending their assistance, the editors may be assured of an enjoyable trip. Messrs. Biedewolf and Wessel are arranging now for automobiles in which to take the guests about the city on a trip of inspection. They will be taken to all the leading manufacturing institutions, the parks and other places of note.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Henschen, Mr. and Mrs. Roesner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wahrenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Christ, Miss Mary Wahrenburg, Miss Mary Eichel, Miss Esther Wahrenburg, Lloyd Heiser. WORK CONTINUES UNDER RECEIVER

Kerr Murray Plant is in Operation With Same Working Force.

GETTING OUT ORDERS

Work at the Kerr Murray Manufacturing company's plant continued today with the same number of men on the force as were there before the concern went into the hands of the Tri-State Loan and Trust company as receiver late Monday afternoon.

News of the receivership was on the streets early in the afternoon, but publicity was withheld by the newspapers at the request of Judge Walter Olds, who conducted the matter and who was afraid some complications might arise by premature announcement.

The application for the receivership was made by George H. Cressler, one of the officers of the company, and the appointment was made in the circuit court by Judge R. K. Erwin, who is presiding in the absence of Judge O'Rourke.

Members of the company charge the situation to the fact that it has not the ready capital to finish the big contracts it has on hand and that only the need of cash for immediate payments forced the appointment. It can not realize on these contracts before the maturity of some $30,000 or $40,000 of debts become due and which would probably have been pressed and which would probably have operated against other creditors if suits had been entered and judgments taken.

The company employs about 250 men and is capitalized at $300,000, of which George H. Cressler, the plaintiff, holds 120 shares, while the remainder is held by Alfred D. Alfred M. and Kerr Murray Cressler.

In August, 1911, bonds to the extent of $300,000 were issued. Of these bonds $210,000 are held as collateral for indebtedness. It is alleged that the property at the plant and the other visible assets exceed the liabilities.

Officers Issue Statement.
The following statement was issued by the officers of the company:

On the application of one of the stockholders, a receiver was appointed for the Kerr Murray Manufacturing company, one of the oldest and largest industries of the city, which employs some 250 men. The receivership became necessary on account of the lack of sufficient working capital.

The company has under construction a number of large contracts amounting to over a quarter of a million dollars, involving the temporary expenditure of additional sums of money for their completion before payment can be realized and hence the necessity of temporary relief in the payment of current bills which would best be realized through a receivership. The business will continue to be operated by the receiver and the men kept employed and contracts filled as if there had been no receivership.

The value of the assets as appraised by competent and disinterested experts shows them to be largely in excess of all liability. All creditors are amply secured and there will be no loss sustained by any person. Business will be continued for the benefit of all parties interested. The Tri-State Loan and Trust company was appointed receiver. This company is not a creditor and has no connection with or interest in the officers of the company.

AT THE MAJESTIC.
WEBER AND FIELDS JUBILEE.

Tour is the Most Unique on Record—Here on Friday.

Of all theatrical tours, the one now being undertaken by the Weber and Fields Jubilee company probably will stand unique. The first tour of note, and one which is most familiar at this time, was that undertaken by the Jarrett and Palmer company a quarter of a century ago, and nothing to approach it again was known until Weber and Fields took their company from the Music Hall in New York in 1904, and jumped to San Francisco by special train without a stop for a performance. This was some tour of itself, but the Jubilee company's venture is even more sensational, for the train which left New York Monday morning, May 13th, consisted of ten cars and for the ensuing five weeks thirty-six cities will be played, with a possibility that a few others will be added to the itinerary. The most easterly cities to be visited are Springfield, Mass., and Hartford, Conn.; the most southerly, Louisville, Ky.; the most westerly, Kansas City, Mo., and the most northerly, Detroit, Mich. No city on the list has more than two performances, although most theatrical companies play them for two weeks, or for a run, while certain large cities, such as Brooklyn, St. Louis, Washington, Baltimore and Kansas City, have only one performance. This is absolutely necessary in order that the Jubilee company may cover certain promised territory and end the tour by the middle of June.

While the company will travel everywhere on this special train, with its private cars de luxe for the principals and guests, its Pullman drawing room sleepers for the chorus girls and musicians, and its two diners, it is not to be expected that such principals as Lillian Russell, Fay Templeton, William Collier, George Roban, Bessie Clayton, Ada Lewis, Helena Collier, John T. Kelly, Frankie Bailey, Weber and Fields, and the others, will not long occasionally for the luxury of a hotel suite.

J. W. Askins, a well known Lima, O., attorney, was in the city today on business.

BOTH OBJECT TO REPORT IN CASE

Traction Company and the Owner of Land Are Not Satisfied.

WOMAN PLEAD GUILTY

A new angle arose in the condemnation proceedings instituted by the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company against Anna Eckert to secure possession of property at Main and Ewing streets, which the company wants for terminal purposes, when both parties to the action filed in the circuit court of the day objections to the report of the appraisement filed several days ago.

The company offered $25,000 for the property and Mrs. Eckert wanted twice that sum. The appraisers placed a value of $15,000 on the ground and $14,500 on the improvements and neither party is satisfied and they have appealed to the judge to set aside the appraisement.

Woman is Fined $25.
After a day spent in trying the case of Mary Albright before a circuit court jury on an appeal from a conviction in the city court of keeping a house of ill fame, a plea of guilty was entered today by the woman, the case was withdrawn from the jury and a fine of $25 was assessed by Judge R. K. Erwin, who is presiding temporarily.

Deputy Prosecutors Callahan and Dulin objected and asked that a jail sentence be added, but the court held that the affidavit was faulty, although the testimony showed the woman guilty and the fine was a compromise. Her place was raided several weeks ago and in the course of the hearing testimony was offered to show that she had rented rooms to two girls, one of fifteen and one of sixteen, but this was ruled out by the judge.

The affidavit was filed by Sergeant Dan W. Kintz, of the police department, who alleged that the rented rooms to persons unknown. On the stand he testified that he knew at the time the case was filed the names of the parties and the judge held this as an error.

On the charge that he does not support his family and that he has abandoned her three times, Murlita E. Blood was given a divorce in the circuit court today from Perry A. Blood. He is required to pay $25 a month for the support of their two children and the wife was given the custody. Judge John H. Aiken appeared for her.

Couldn't Get Along.
A divorce was granted to Samantha McCamack from Samuel McCamack and she testified that they were divorced eighteen years ago and she married again and after the death of her second husband was married a second time to McCamack. They were married in February of this year.

THE DEATHS

BOUGHER.

Mrs. Alice Bougher, aged 71 years, died suddenly at midnight at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Riegel, corner of Lafayette and Washington streets. Death was due to heart failure. The aged lady had been out in an automobile early in the evening with her daughter and son-in-law and was apparently in usual health. Later after reaching home she complained of pains in her chest and before medical aid could be summoned she succumbed to the attack.

Mrs. Bougher was born in Ireland and came to America with her parents at the age of 9 years. The family settled at Frankfurt, Ind., where she was married to Joseph Bougher, who died twelve years ago. Following the death of her husband Mrs. Bougher came to Fort Wayne and since that time had made her home with her daughter. Mrs. Bougher was a member of the Cathedral congregation and of the several church societies.

Surviving she leaves three children—Frank Bougher and Mrs. A. Riegel, of this city, and William Bougher, of Delphi.

Funeral services Thursday morning at 8 o'clock from the residence and at 8:30 o'clock from the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. A special car over the train, accompanied by members of the family and immediate friends, will leave for Delphi, Ind., where interment will be made. The special will leave Fort Wayne at 9:45 o'clock.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Harmon.—Funeral services for Mrs. Samuel W. Harmon Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence, Rev. Elie officiating. Services will be private except to the immediate friends.

Mrs. Harmon has two sisters and one brother—Mrs. Ada Buckles and Mrs. I. A. Patterson, of Seattle, and Nelson Monnier. Other surviving relatives besides the husband, are two daughters, Mrs. Sherman Fay and Mrs. Elma Anderson, of this city.

Seabold.—The remains of George H. Seabold, who died Monday at Indianapolis, will reach Fort Wayne Wednesday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock from St. John's reformed church, Rev. J. H. Bosch officiating. Mr. Seabold formerly conducted the Star restaurant on West Main street.

THIS NEWSPAPER SECURES A CAMERA RECORD THAT IS UNIQUE

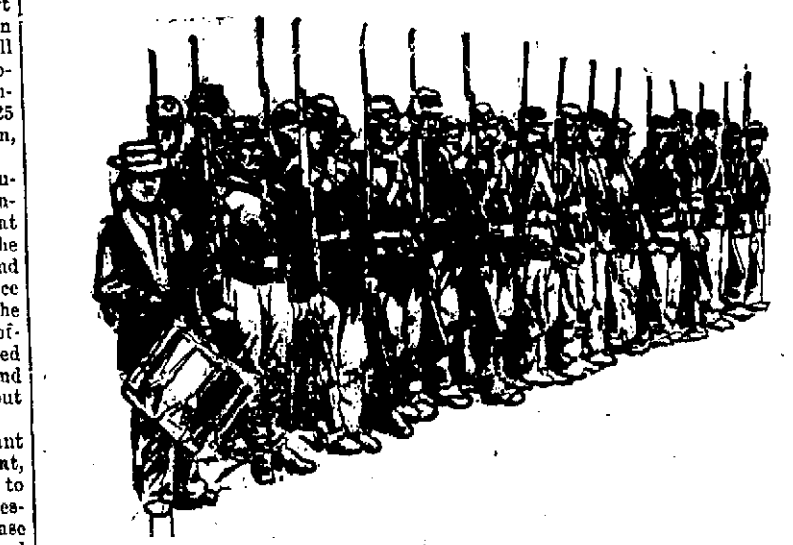

The Only Great War Ever Photographed Was Our Own Civil War—An Opportunity to See It as It Really Looked—Long-Lost Photographs Brought to Light and Offered Readers of This Newspaper Are the the Only Ones of Their Kind.

The only great war ever photographed was the American Civil War. For it was the first after the invention of photography. And it was also the last grand-scale fighting that was pictorial, personal, hand-to-hand. In '61, for the first and last time, the daily business, tragedy and humor of a war were "caught" on thousands of photographs.

Since 1865 the opportunity has passed forever for paralleling such an intimate panorama of life and death as the owner of The Sentinel series has at hand. Modern rifles kill at 1½ miles. But Above all—the war correspondent today has become a virtual war prisoner. He is kept away from the headquarters and from the firing line as well; from any scene that might betray losses suffered, or the lay of the land, or the disposition of forts and earthworks.

But in '61, the camera artists who made these long buried photographs penetrated to the very storm centers. There was no "censor," no orders restricting photographers, no suspicion in '61. Why should there be? The camera was thought a toy. Photo-engraving had not been dreamed of. Brady in '61, no general firing was beyond 300 yards. Brady and his followers did what will never be done again: they crept close to the trenches and the earthworks and showed us the face of a whole great war in progress. Modern field guns are deadly at three miles—often while the cannoneers are entirely out of sight. But in The Sentinel's special offer are pictures taken while the enemy was not a mile away!

And his fellow pioneers were allowed behind the very scenes of war, close to life and death. And the fascinating eye-witnesses they preserved are now embodied in "The Civil War Through the Camera," which readers of this newspaper can obtain at low cost. See advertisement on page 9 of this issue telling you how to procure these great pictures.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORING TOWNS

WAGING WAR ON THE POOL ROOMS

In the First of a Series of Cases at Huntington the Defendant Pleaded Guilty.

Huntington, Ind., May 28.—Huntington is making a successful fight against the pool rooms and one by one the defendants charged with violating the law are expected to appear in the circuit court, plead guilty, and pay the fines assessed against them. The first one to do so is John Darr, who was arraigned before Judge Cook on the grand jury indictment charging him with violating the pool room law. He pleaded guilty and accepted a fine of $5 and costs, amounting in all to $10.

This is the first of the series of state cases for pool room and saloon irregularities passed upon last January by the grand jury. The next case will be that against Sid Eby for an offense similar to that with which Darr was charged. The suits are calculated to be tried before the jury but as Darr has set the precedent of guilty, others will probably follow suit, thus saving the addition of the jury expense to their fines.

Illness of Defendant Made Trial Go Over to September Term.

Decatur, Ind., May 28.—Judge R. H. Hartford, of Portland, came to Decatur yesterday for the trial of the State of Indiana against William Ward, charged with conspiracy with Ode McClish to steal $500 from Roll Spade, a young Kirkland township farmer. When court was called the defendant filed his verified application supported by the affidavit of his family physician, asking that the case be continued for the reason that he is now sick and unable to appear in court for trial. On the strength of the showing made Judge Hartford continued the case until the September term of court. The other case wherein Ward is charged with McClish with a conspiracy to steal $500 from Daniel Cook had already been set for Monday, June 3.

GIRL ELOPES WITH A MARRIED MAN

Edna Collins, of Huntington, Leaves Home With Lover Who Has Wife and Children.

Huntington, Ind., May 28.—Despite objections made by her parents to the man, whom she wished to marry, because they learned he was already married, with a wife and two children living in Clayton, O., Miss Edna Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, of Walnut street, strongly persisted in her love and wedding plans and disappeared from her home and the city some time Saturday afternoon. Her parents now believe she eloped with a man named Stine, as extensive search throughout the city and places where she visits proved futile.

Miss Collins met Stine some months ago. He had been working for the horse-buying firm of Hardy & Robinson. He was much older than the girl and her parents investigated his past, finding that he was a married man. The girl was apprised of the alleged facts, but this seemingly did not deter her affections. Then Stine was refused the Collins home, but it is said Miss Collins met him elsewhere and she quietly effected her plans, which the parents now fear have materialized in the elopement.

No Intervention in Cuba.

President Taft's direct assurance to President Gomez that the United States has no intention of intervening in the present state of Cuban troubles seems to have been necessary to set at rest the fears of the island republic. It ought to have the effect, also, of stilling the cries of the jingo element both here and in Cuba which will never be fully satisfied until the United States has stultified itself to the extent of breaking faith with the world and annexing Cuba.

The protest by President Gomez against intervention was doubtless due not so much to a distrust of the United States as to a misinterpretation of the movements in sending a fleet of warships to Key West and in strengthening forces at its naval base. There can be no gainsaying the responsibility of the United States for the maintenance of decorum and public safety in the island republic quite aside from the duty it owes in protecting the life and property of its own subjects in Cuba, for the United States is responsible for the existence of the republic itself. In the face of repeated outbreaks, and contending against internal conditions which we in America can perhaps but faintly comprehend, the Cuban president insists that his government is qualified to maintain its own supremacy. It is at least entitled to a fair chance to do so without the threat of intervention impending to add to its embarrassment.

New Friends of River Improvement.

Marked encouragement to the proposition for the improvement of the rivers and the beautification of the streams through Fort Wayne is seen in the fact that a considerable number of citizens who were originally opposed to the project have united in an organization quite independently of the original movement and purpose to campaign for what they conceive to be an opportunity Fort Wayne should not fail to grasp quickly.

This has come, too, in the lull that has followed the very lively and at times acrimonious debate over the question of issuing some $200,000 of bonds to provide for the municipal purchase of the river banks in their entirety before beginning their improvement and beautification—a question that is still before the city council upon the request of the board of park commissioners. The men who constitute the active force in this new movement say frankly that a careful consideration of the question has led them to the conviction that their original position was an erroneous one. They purpose to discuss through the city press some of the phases of the situation, and announce a willingness to answer, so far as is possible, all pertinent questions which may be submitted bearing upon it. A calm and dispassionate consideration of the project such as is in contemplation, ought to be both illuminating and valuable to Fort Wayne in deciding this all-important question.

THE CUBAN SITUATION DISCUSSED IN PRESS.

Anarchy.

Washington Post: "Washington is desirous that the races get along together as they do in this country, and will not tolerate anarchy in Cuba by either whites or blacks, or both."

Votes.

Troy Record: "By their votes alone can the negroes in Cuba hope to secure any redress of real or fancied grievances."

Mexico.

Baltimore American: "If this country were to follow the course of Japan with respect to Korea, which was a thorn in the side of the island empire, it would take over Cuba and would enter Mexico and reduce that country to order."

Veterans.

Boston Advertiser: "The revolt of the negroes in Cuba has followed rather too closely upon the heels of the trouble made by the veterans to give ground for feeling assured that all is going well in the island."

Forbearance.

New York Evening Post: "The unhappy outlook, with dissatisfaction and distrust so rife in Cuba, will tax the prudence and test the forbearance of the Washington government."

Politicians.

Brooklyn Eagle: "The leaders of the present trouble are politicians who frankly admit that they are making trouble because the government has failed to provide them with jobs."

Marines.

New York Tribune: "The sending of marines to Guanahama is not to be regarded as a step toward intervention, but rather as a precautionary measure against the possible necessity of intervening."

BUTTER PRODUCTION.

Indiana ranks tenth among the states having the largest production of butter. More butter is made on farms in Indiana than in factories, according to a census bulletin. There were 1,820,766,000 pounds of butter, valued at $493,000,000 produced on farms and factories in the United States during the census year, 1909. Of the grand total reported, the quantity produced on farms was 998,001,000 pounds, valued at $255,544,999. Factories produced 822,765,000 pounds, valued at $179,510,000. Butter manufactured by farmers' co-operative creameries is included in the figures for factories. Among the states, Wisconsin ranked first in total production, with 131,040,000 pounds, valued at $36,628,000. It was first also with 102,885,000 pounds valued at $29,547,000, produced in factories. The difference between the figures given, which is 27,195,000 pounds valued at $7,081,000, represents Wisconsin's farm production. In total production Iowa ranked second, Minnesota fifth, Pennsylvania fourth, Michigan third, Ohio sixth, Illinois seventh, New York eighth and Texas ninth. Texas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana show a much greater farm production than factory output, and rank in the order written. Minnesota, Iowa and New York, in the order named, rank after Wisconsin in showing a factory production much larger than credited to their farms.

GRANDMA DID IT HERSELF.

New York city is in need of 100 good household servants or "hired girls." The troubles of the housewife are endless. The city has an official who tries to arrange difficulties between the employer and her help, but he is simply swamped in tribulation. He says the trouble is partly due to high steamship fares that keep women from coming in sufficient numbers and partly due to the treatment the girls receive in many homes. But the greatest difficulty lies in the fact that the "hired girl is assumed to have no social instincts and hence is given no chance to gratify them and that the nature of her work is so absolutely menial that it does not fit with the American idea."

The modern woman has many advantages, but in one respect our grandmothers had her "beaten to a frazzle." They thought it a fine, dignified thing to do their own work, with the aid of proud and willing daughters. But we have "progressed" a long way from our dear old grandmothers.

A NEW NATIONAL SPORT.

(Evansville Courier.)
Time was when to kill a fly was deemed no heroic work. You snatched a bothersome fly and thought no more about it. But science—delightful science—has changed things. It has given us a new thrill. We know now that when we kill a fly we murder, as like as not, a few million germs which he is carrying around on his feet. We know we have benefited the human race and that if the president of the state board of health saw us he would pat us on the head and say: "Good work. Do it again."

There was a time when we felt a bit ashamed of ourselves for killing a fly. But today nobody will say: "Why don't you pick on a bug your size?"

The Audubon societies may yet persuade us that we have no right to kill birds. Our shot guns may be melted into steel hat pins for the ladies and bird wings disappear forever from millinery windows.

If that time comes, fly killing may become a national sport and we may pursue it with such ardor that the flies will grow scarce and there will have to be a "closed season" during which no one will be allowed to swat the fly.

All Questions Answered Relative to River Improvement.

The undersigned committee will undertake to answer such questions, relative to the municipal ownership of the river frontage and the improvement thereof, as have already been put to its several members, as well as other questions as may be submitted to it by any citizen of Fort Wayne.

All questions should be mailed to the president of the undersigned committee, Mr. H. I. Smith, 727 Court street, Fort Wayne, Ind.; all questions must be made as short as possible, and pertinent to the subject involved, and the name and address of the person submitting the question must be given.

The Sentinel has kindly offered to donate, each day, sufficient space, on its editorial page, for the publication of the questions and answers above referred to, as well as the publication of such brief statements as this committee may, from time to time, desire to take in connection with its work of furthering what it believes to be, the best interests of Fort Wayne.

Municipal Ownership and Civic Improvement Committee.

BUY THE LAND FIRST.

Question: Why don't those favorable to the bond issue have the rivers dredged before they advise the purchase of the river frontage?

Answer: If the rivers were dredged now there would be no place to throw the dredgings except upon private property adjoining the river. It would be bad business for the city to increase the value of private property at public expense. The cost of dredging the rivers is an improvement that the public must bear. Therefore, why increase the value of private property adjoining the rivers at public expense? Better for the city to own the river frontage and increase the value of its own property.

ACKNOWLEDGES JUDGMENT.

Former Recorder Now May Sue Board of Accounts.

Princeton, Ind., May 26.—W. D. Zimmerman, former recorder of Gibson county for two terms, appeared in circuit court here and acknowledged judgment for $2,250 on a suit brought by the state board of accounts. The board of accounts charged Mr. Zimmerman with about $7,000, about $4,500 of this being on the first term. The court ruled the statute of limitation released Zimmerman from liability on this and the defendant, through his attorney, then made acknowledgment for the full amount of the second term suit. Mr. Zimmerman says, however, that he is entitled to about 30 per cent of this, and he may sue the county to recover.

Mrs. N. J. McPike, 470 Huntington St., Wabash, had severe kidney trouble, resulting from catarrh, which apparently poisoned her entire system. While at its worst she began taking Foley Kidney Pills and says: "They seemed to give immediately relief. The first few doses cured the backache, and eventually stopped the inflammation and strengthened the kidneys. I cannot recommend them too highly." Dreier Drug Co.

CAN BE AVOIDED.

You cannot afford to neglect the slightest kidney ailment—it's hazardous to do so.

WILL GET SQUARE DEAL, SAYS NEW

But He Dodges Query as to Sitting on His Own Contest.

HOOSIER FIGHT IS ON

Chicago, May 23.—Col. Harry S. New told his fellow Indians of the Roosevelt faction that they would get "a square deal" before the national committee yesterday when former Senator Albert J. Beveridge and his friends contested the seats of the "regular" delegates-at-large to the national convention.

"Will you sit as a member of the national committee and hear your own contest?" he was asked.

"Well, I'll answer that by asking you whether or not I intend letting the other fellows sit on it," was the enigmatic answer.

The contest of the seats of the delegates if successful would dethrone Colonel Harry S. New, national committee man and chairman of the sub-committee on arrangements—the all-important sub-committee of the convention—is an aftermath of the state convention held at Indianapolis on March 27. It would mean the forced retirement of Colonel New from his job as Indiana boss.

Regular Delegates Named.

The contest of the delegates-at-large whose seats have been contested are:

Colonel Harry S. New.

Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president.

Joseph D. Oliver, South Bend, plow manufacturer.

James E. Watson, former whip of the house of representatives in Congress.

The contesting delegation of Roosevelt followers, who were elected in a "rump" convention, is composed of:

Albert J. Beveridge, former senator.

Fred K. Landis, of Logansport, former representative in Congress and brother of United States Judge Keneasaw M. Landis.

Edwin M. Lee, former state chairman of Indianapolis, who was ousted by the Taft forces.

Charles H. Campbell, Shelbyville.

The contest is the first real attempt to "get" Colonel New by the Roosevelt forces. It means that the old Indiana war horse will have to battle for his political life. It is even a more strenuous battle than the one he had four years ago, when he and Frank Hitchcock, postmaster general, "went to the mat" and in which Colonel New came out with a whole skin. The Roosevelt forces are particularly bitter against Colonel New because of his selection of Elihu Root as temporary chairman. With Colonel New out of the way in Indiana, Mr. Beveridge and his progressive confederates would have full sway. As matters now stand Colonel New is one of the few national committeemen who were able to hold the reins in their states and deliver to President Taft.

To make the issue one of importance the Roosevelt forces have also contested the seats of delegates from the first and third Indiana districts—the old Hemenway territory—and the latter the New Albany district. With these four delegates and the four delegates at large, should they win, the Roosevelt adherents practically would have control of the Indiana delegation.

The contest of the delegates at large is based by the Roosevelt managers on the seating of the Marion county delegation in the state convention. This is the county in which Indianapolis is situated. It is claimed that the delegation was illegally elected and that the state committee, of which Mr. New is boss, used steam roller tactics in seating it. They also will charge that the contests as to the credential and resolution committees in the state convention were illegally decided.

Mr. New answered the contest of his fellow Indians with the curt remark that "they would get a fair deal before the national committee."

PREPARE FOR DEADLOCK.

Convention Tickets Contain Hint at Long Session.

Chicago, May 23.—The republican national committee has come forth as an oracle mutely predicting a deadlock in the national convention.

The prediction came to light last night when samples of the tickets for the national powwow were displayed. Tickets are being issued for June 18, June 19, June 20, June 21, June 22. The latter ticket reads:

"Good for Saturday, June 22, and all days thereafter that the convention may continue."

The last convention lasted only four days, closing on Friday.

Politicians are inclined to take this ticket arrangement as a frank admission by the national committee that things are not to run as smoothly as had been contemplated and that a deadlock over the presidential nomination may be on the bills.

Another precaution which this arrangement would make is against the admission of miscellaneous camp followers in event of a deadlock. If the regular guests used, up their ticket privileges it would be possible for the Roosevelt camp to pack the convention hall and bring about a display of sentiment which might turn the tide for victory.

URGES RESPECT FOR GRAY HAIR

Governor Marshall Decries Lack of Reverence by Young.

IN DEDICATION TALK

Indianapolis, Ind., May 23.—The house at the northeast corner of Twentieth street and Capitol avenue, which was bought by the Indianapolis Altzheimer society, was yesterday afternoon dedicated as a home for the aged.

The speakers for the occasion were Governor Marshall, Charles Bookwalter and Joseph Keller.

Governor Marshall took as his text, "Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord, thy God, giveth thee."

"This world would be much happier, we would not need jails nor almshouses," said the governor, "if the people would only obey the ten commandments. The world would be much better off, at least, if the people would only obey that one commandment which sets forth the duty of young people to honor and obey their parents."

"If there is any one thing today that young America should be criticised for, I believe it is the lack of respect on the part of the young for the old. No matter if a father is feeble minded, or if his back is plastered with documents that show how many times he has failed and has been in bankruptcy, that man is master of the household and should retain the respect of every one in the family."

"I believe churches in this day are not concerned so much in the questions of theology as they are in the practice of doing good. This occasion can not help but remind us that the attitude of churches in the performance of their duties has changed, and let us hope that the establishment of this home will be an example for the young to show more respect for the elderly persons of all classes."

KILKENNY CATS

ALL OVER AGAIN

Will Result in Finish of Republican Party, Says Williams.

IN LIVELY DEBATE

Washington, May 23.—The Kilkenny cats, the uneven distribution of wealth as represented by Andrew Carnegie and Colonel Roosevelt's prospects of nomination were mingled in a lively debate in the senate yesterday, over Senator Hitchcock's resolution calling for all information of corporations as disclosed in the corporation tax returns. The returns, he said, encouraged a disposition toward imperialism, made more evident the disparity of wealth, had increased the lists of millionaires, and shown that protected interests had a revenue of a billion dollars a year over legitimate profits.

Iron and steel manufacturers, Senator Hitchcock declared, were alone collecting $300,000,000 more than their due. He referred to Andrew Carnegie as an example of an uneven distribution of wealth.

Senator John Sharp Williams interjected that it was necessary for the democratic party to prepare to take charge of public affairs.

"After the two Kilkenny cats gets through," said he, "there won't be any republican party left, and the democratic party will go in by default." Williams predicted the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt, who, he said, was dissatisfied "because he could not be both former president and president at the same time."

"The democrats are trembling in their very boots for fear the former president will be nominated," retorted Senator Gallinger, who added that he would do all he could to prevent Mr. Roosevelt's nomination.

E. Casey are giving. Smilax garlanded the doorways and springer fern added its graceful fronds to wall vases and baskets. Large bows of pink tulle were tied to the handles of the baskets and when supper was served after a game of bridge a basket for each table filled with sweets and tied with pink tulle made the affair still more charming. Mrs. Quicksell and Mrs. Casey were assisted in receiving by Mrs. H. H. Heisler, a recent addition to south side social gatherings, while Mrs. J. Frank Dinnon aided in marking tables. There were players for eleven tables.

Mrs. Warren DuPre Smith and a dozen of her most intimate girlfriend friends enjoyed an informal game of bridge as guests of a neighborhood friend, Mrs. Henry Bowerfield, this afternoon.

A Mother Mistaken For a College Girl

An odd incident happened recently in Northampton, Massachusetts, where a Mrs. R. M. Bronson, of New York, was visiting her daughter, a student at Smith College. So youthful and pretty did the mother appear, that one of her daughter's friends, not appreciating her age, thought she was a new student and spoke to her accordingly. While Mrs. Bronson has a slight, trim figure, the chief cause of her youthful appearance, was her luxuriant, wavy brown hair, which retained not only its original, natural color of her younger days, but possessed all the gloss and buoyancy of a young girl's. This was the result to thin, faded or gray hair and it is on display at Miss M. Barth 202 West Perry St., Fort Wayne, Indiana. It is called Ureol Gray Hair Restorer, which is guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906, by F. Ury & Co., Chicago, and is the only safe and scientific restorer of gray and faded hair to its original natural color. It is absolutely harmless, its use cannot be detected, and it gives the richness and color that naturally belongs to it, bringing back to youth a healthy, beautiful appearance. Be sure to ask Miss M. Barth about it today.

American, will give a pedro party tomorrow night in Odeon hall. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Joseph A. Russell will leave the latter part of this week for St. Paul, Minn., where she will spend several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ash, who recently went there to live.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Orff, Mr. and Mrs. Evans and Miss Hanker went to Barbere lake on Saturday to spend the week-end. They made the trip in automobiles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Stults, Mr. and Mrs. Edward White, Mrs. H. Goldstine, Miss Fannie Matson, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. William Kitzke, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dine, Rev. Mungovan, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tanner and other Fort Wayne people are going to Indianapolis to see the automobile races. The trip will be made from this city by automobile.

Lauer-Becker.

The wedding of Miss Florence Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Becker, of 1014 East Jefferson street, and Mr. Paul A. Lauer was solemnized at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock this morning. Rev. George Mayr officiated at the nuptial mass. Prof. Peil presided at the organ, playing the bridal music from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party entered the church and the Mendelssohn wedding march for the recessional. The bride and groom walked to the altar together preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Marie Tonsing, and the bride's brother, Mr. Henry J. Becker, who was groomsmen. The bride looked very pretty and modest in her wedding costume. Her gown was a white French crepe, handsomely embroidered and made over messaline. The bride's hat was of white maline trimmed with shadow lace and single ostrich plumes. The bride wore a corsage bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley and carried her prayerbook with bookmark of lilies of the valley. Miss Tonsing wore a gown of baby Irish flouncing with a touch of pink in a satin girdle and her hat was a white tulle braid with aigrette and tips of white with a bow of pink velvet giving color to match the Killarney roses she carried. The church was decorated with palms and ferns about the sanctuary. After the church service the bridal party was driven to the home of the bride, where a delicious breakfast was served to the immediate family relatives. The bride's table had a basket of white sweetpeas and spiraea in the center of it and parlands of green and white extended from the chandelier to the four corners of the table. Bowls of marguerites and snowballs decorated all of the rooms. This afternoon the bride and groom left for Niagara Falls, Buffalo and other eastern points. For traveling the bride wore a dark blue serge suit trimmed with white pearl buttons and a white lingerie waist. Her hat was a black and white shepherd plaid sailor. After their return from their wedding trip the bride and groom will go to housekeeping at 2705 South Talhoun street. The bride is a young woman of lovely character and sweet disposition. Mr. Lauer is an employee of the Bowser Oil Tank works and has the esteem and confidence of all who know him. Both bride and groom are very popular young people and are prominent in the young people's societies of St. Mary's parish. A cousin of the bride, Miss Lillian Matthews, of Chicago, was an out of town guest present at the wedding.

FILMY NETS AND WHITE LINGERIE STUFFS FOR GRADUATION.

This fetching graduating frock of fine chiffon and white net strikes the keynote of girlish simplicity. To relieve the too straight and narrow silhouette, fine Val lace flounces are caught up effectively with rosettes of the same soft rose silk that forms the girdle, thereby adding a dainty touch. The low necked fillet draped bodice accentuates the youthful lines. The whole costume, notwithstanding the inevitable white button boots, is further enhanced by the wide slashed-brim hat of white milan with at once ultra fashionable and unique, delicately tufted sprays of pink roses nestling piquantly against the several brim.

One of the finest and softest of white lingerie stuffs for pretty graduating frocks is white silk messaline. In this model it gracefully lends itself to the girlish form. With the rich lace pattern embroidery and ball fringe, a commencement gown is concerned which is at once ultra fashionable and unique. A fancy pompadour girdle with sash ends, finished with wide bands of American Beauty satin is a most important detail to this Frenchy conceit. The dot upon the eye of the design, white satin button boots and the ribbon hair band fastened on either side with a ribbon rose completes a picture of ideal attractiveness.

REQUESTED RECIPES.

Almond Cake.
Take two ounces of butter and beat it well with one ounce of sugar, then add to it two well-beaten eggs, beating the mixture well together. Sift into it two ounces of flour, add two tablespoons of ground almonds and half a teaspoonful of almond extract. The cake should be baked in a tin lined with greased paper, in a moderate oven, and sugar be sifted over the top.

Cinnamon Cake.
Take the yolks of six eggs, six tablespoons of sugar and a small teaspoonful of ground cinnamon and put them all into a basin. Beat the mixture for half an hour without changing the direction, and at the end of that time add to it the six whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Sift in six tablespoons of flour, and bake the cake in a moderate oven in a flat greased tin.

A Nice Cherry Cake.
Take one and a half pounds of self-raising flour, eight ounces of caster sugar, the same amount of butter, four ounces of preserved cherries, four eggs, a little milk and some cherry flavoring. Having creamed the butter and sugar together stir in the milk and flavoring, then work all into the flour lightly and add the cherries, previously cut into pieces, and when all the ingredients are incorporated, line some baking tins with buttered paper, put in the mixture and bake in a moderate oven.

Fresh Drip Coffee.

celain must be used. A gauze filter must be thoroughly rinsed after using and hung up to dry if possible. Heat the filter and pot, put grounds in the filter and moisten with boiling water. Let it stand five minutes, then add more boiling water every two or three minutes. The dripped coffee must taste, being rich and fragrant, without becoming muddy or bitter. Best of all, it never fails, as boiled coffee is sure to do, when hastily prepared.

LITTLE BAGS.

From small pieces of chamois, silk and linen there can be made countless little bags that can be used for various things:

If there anything more practical and comforting than the money bag, that can be worn around the neck and fastened by means of a small safety pin to the corset, "to make assurance doubly sure?" This can be of heavy ribbon, made in a square form, with a deep flap that fastens down over the top and is either clasped or buttoned over the opening. An inner lining of chamois prevents the perspiration of the body from touching the bills that are its precious contents. The band of ribbon, or the tape, which is passed over the head, should be narrow and sewn firmly on the bag. A printed name and address should be added as a precautionary help in case of loss.

Jewel bags are very necessary for travelers. These are best of chamois, and should have very secure fastenings on the flaps. An outer covering of linen, silk or rep should be made and finished with another drawing string. The best and safest method of carrying is around the neck.

Dainty little sachet bags can be made of pieces of ribbon that are usually thrown away. Tiny bags, one inch long can be filled with cotton perfumed with sachet and attached to silk cord or narrow ribbon. These can be added to a corset, a hatband or to a hat, inside the lining. Some of the made-to-order dresses have their allowance of tiny sachet bags attached to bodice and skirt on the under surface. You can add this individual touch to any of your own garments.

The crocheted bag for carrying the washcloth is a joy to the week-end guest or the traveler. This can be of linen or rep if crocheted too stiff. A lining of rubber or oilekin is necessary. The outer and inner materials should be basted and bound with ribbon or tape. Patent clasps are best for this type of bag.

For the powder leaves or puff, a tiny bag that can protect the outfit and be tucked away in the handbag can be made of Dresden silk. The addition of a small reducing mirror in the bottom of the bag is worth while.

This is not mentioning the larger bags for slippers, opera glasses, handkerchiefs, etc., that occupy such an important place in the realm of accessories.

DOLLY MADE USEFUL.

The dolly is no longer considered a mere playing thing, it is generally making herself useful these days. They are decorating workbags, concealing spoils of silk or bolts of ribbon in their full skirts; they are made into "tea cozies," to place over teapots that they may retain their heat.

The good-natured Billikens are used for pin cushions, and although they suffer from the pinpricks, their smiles grow all the broader.

Some of the novelty shops are displaying dainty dolls attired in quaint costumes of 1840.

These dolls attend milady when she dresses. The soft puff of the poke-bonnet holds pins of all colors and sizes, her reticule contains rings and brooches and her parasol holds hatpins.

Sometimes the small daughter's favorite doll meets with an accident which leaves nothing intact but the head. Make one of these attractive dollies in the following manner:

Cut a cone-shaped framework of buckram or cardboard. This is formed of a semicircle, with an opening in which to fill the doll's head.

Make a paper pattern first, so that the size may be exact. Fasten the sides together and sew the doll into her stiff skirt.

Sew leaden weights at the bottom of the frame, so that she may stand firmly. To attractively dress doll, use scraps of silk, ribbon, lace or figured dimity.

One lovely doll wore a frock of cream silk dotted with pink roses.

The skirt should be very full and the bodice short-waisted. Over this make a tiny kerchief of white muslin.

The bonnet should be pink silk and the reticule of the same material, opening and closing with a drawstring of ribbon.

The parasol also pink, should be pleated silk attached to a "crooked" handle of wire wound with ribbon.

A large muff may be substituted for the parasol if desired.

This fascinating little maid is a delightful addition to the dresser, and at the same time performs a mission in life.

It is easy to figure out where to get perfect work when you know that the best methods, the best equipment and the best skilled workmen are employed at the Tray Dry Cleaning Co. Phone 160.

DETACHABLE FLOUNCES.

With the advent of the thin summer frock comes the demand for the lingerie petticoat. Detachable flounces are a practical article to have especially when traveling.

A strip of linen four yards long and a half yard wide is necessary to make a flounce. This may be taken in groups of five tucks, with strips of lace insertion between, or it may be pieced, with strips of the lace placed every three inches.

The bottom of the flounce should be finished by an edging of the lace. Gather this strip and sew it to a strip of material. This may be buttoned or basted to the skirt if desired.

The one-piece slips often have flounces of silk; these may be removed when the slip is laundered.

Flounces formed of narrow pleatings of silk and mull are extremely dainty. The narrow pleatings are sewn to a wide flounce of plain lawn.

FASHION FRIVOLS.

White shoes for good frocks are stylish and will be in good taste all the summer.

A touch of lace is used on practically every garment or accessory where dainty trimming is required.

A smart white satin shirt being shown in an uptown shop has a new neck finish showing the narrow flat collar; in front of shirt being turned back in V effect. This opening is filled with soft folds of flesh colored chiffon. The sleeves are slightly shirred into a long shoulder.

Dresses made largely of embroidery and lace will have a big vogue during the summer months.

The tendency is still toward low neckwear, though styled ruffs of melle, all black or black over white maline or lace, are being used with the collarless gown as a dress-up adjunct.

CHARGES PLEA IN COURT.

Logansport Man After Admitting Crime Decides to Stand Trial.

Logansport, Ind., May 23.—After having pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the first degree and describing in detail how he had beaten Roy Kimmer to death with a paving brick, Wallace Thompson, 22 years old, whose home is at Camden, Ind., yesterday in circuit court changed his plea to "not guilty" and declared he would stand trial.

Thompson was arrested Sunday a few hours after he had fatally beaten Kimmer. When arraigned he said that he had quarreled with Kimmer and that Kimmer had whipped him. Thompson later put a heavy paving brick under his arm and hurried to the scene of his quarrel with Kimmer. He saw a man sleeping on a bench with his hat over his face. He gently raised the hat to identify the sleeping man and seeing it was Kimmer he rained blow after blow on his head with the brick.

"I beat his head until the brick broke in my hands," Thompson told the court.

Afraid of Freckles?

By Mrs. Anita Norris.

Between her love of an outdoor life and her fear of acquiring a freckled skin, the summer girl knows not what to do. So I think any suggestions on how to frolic in the outdoor air and sun without becoming a freckle refuge will meet with high favor.

To begin, see to it that your runabout hat is graced with a wide brim so that Old Sol's rays will slant off harmlessly. When you go to formal affairs you may wear the "rimless" set down hats if you will.

The thin skinned matron or maid must always, just before going out into the hot sun, cover her face with a freckle mask, as that will protect the skin effectively. Such a mask is made by covering the face with a very thin layer of a good cream—in Japan they call this "gilling" the skin—spreading it with the finger tips until it presents a smooth surface to the eyes. A quantity of carrot freckle powder is now sifted over the face, heavily, until the cream is hidden from view. Don't be afraid of this mask making your face look greasy, as this never happens, unless you have been somewhat lavish with the cream or saving with the powder.

What should you do after you return home from a sunlit constitutional? Do nothing. The habit of bathing the face in hot water immediately upon returning indoors is responsible for many a freckled face. At the end of half an hour wash off the cream and powder with tepid or cold water, then saturate a cotton pad with some good skin-toughening solution and wipe it over the face and neck until every bit of the facial skin has had its share of this facial preventive treatment.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

HALF WAY PLACE IS HARD FOR ANY BASE BALL CLUB

Managers and Players Believe There is Some Sort of a Jinx That Hangs Around There.

Most ball players and nearly all managers believe that there is some sort of a jinx hanging around the half way place in the standings of the leagues and that it is unusual for a team to pass it without stumbling and falling back two or three times and it was therefore with more or less trepidation that Manager Francis Joseph Shaugnessy viewed the situation today after the clean cut victory of Monday, when his Billikens romped home on the winning end of a four-to-one count.

Forb Wayne needed, when it prepared for the battle scheduled with Akron today, just one victory to make its game won and lost equal, and for that reason the old superstition cropped out and the manager lined up his forces and prepared to give a hard battle. Half way up is not far from the top and if the pitching shows the steady improvement it has shown in the last week the Varnell troupe will get into the running before the season is much older.

Beiersdorfer proved yesterday that the manager was right when he said he has a club that can win with good pitching. It was a proud day for Berne, Ind., as Beiersdorfer pitched intelligent ball and was never a bit fussed with men on or when he was in the hole. Fear that the warm weather would get him prompted the manager to keep Lou Dell and Renner warming up during the engagement.

Manager Leo Fohl, of the Rubbernecks, tried out a young Boland in the opening battle against Fort Wayne and the hurler looked good under fire and was taken out because his manager thought he might be able to win with a more experienced man in the box.

His work in the first inning was impressive. Blount beat out an infield hit and on a hit and run play Vandagriff sent him to third. Shaugnessy hit and scored him with two on and two out and none gone Keener bunted and advanced both men. Then the pitcher settled down and retired from second to first. That he got out of the hole with a single run scored against him showed mightier good nerve.

In the second he gave Martin a base on balls and McLafferty bunted, advancing his man. Then Beiersdorfer rammed a shot to center for two bags and Blount got a short hit to left and again the side was retired with one run. He got by all right in the third and Jensen was sent in to relieve him.

McLafferty was passed in the fourth. Beiersdorfer beat out his bunt and both runners advanced when Thompson threw wild in fielding the ball. Blount and Vandagriff were both stowed, but in the meantime McLafferty had scored. Then Shaugnessy hit and sent the pitcher home with the final run. Lattimore hit in the sixth and scored on McCullister's double, which constituted the entire Akron output.

Notes of the Game.

Manager Shaugnessy demonstrated once more that hitting with men on bases is one of the best things he does. He drove in half the runs and also shut off a budding tally with a dandy throw to third in the third, when he cut Dummeys down.

Reisel is back to finish up the series here. His work so far has been good and there has been little criticism to offer.

Vandagriff didn't run out his infield bouncer in the second as fast as he generally does and was tossed out in a double play. This is accounted for by the fact that he is ill and playing under handicap. He is one of the most valuable players on the local squad.

Leo Fohl guessed Blount out every time he tried to steal and nailed him twice at second.

Harry Martin had a piece of bad luck. He had Lattimore a block when he stole third, but dropped the ball and couldn't recover it in time to make the throw.

Keener did a nice piece of sprinting when he beat out an infield bouncer in the third. He hurt himself sliding for the bag.

Fabrique hit the ball every time he was up, but he slammed it right at some player when he met it.

McLafferty passed through the game without a hit, the first time for several days that he has done this. He scored a run, however, and did a nice piece of fielding on Johns' grounder in the fourth.

Clancy handled a number of hard chances at first in good shape and picked off one hit.

"RUBE" MARQUARD SENSATION OF NATIONAL LEAGUE; GIANT SOUTHPAW HAS WON TEN SUCCESSIVE GAMES.

Rube Marquard pitched the Giants into the National League pennant last season and apparently is not to repeat. To date the giant left-hander has won ten straight games—his longest winning streak since the opening of the season. Manager McGraw has worked Marquard every fourth day, and the man who cost the Giants $1,000 and went two years without earning a nickel for the team, has fulfilled every prediction of the little Napoleon.

Christy Mathewson says, Marquard was useless for two years because he joined the Giants, press-agented as the highest-priced pitcher on earth, and went to the spring line in response to John T. Brush's request and against McGraw's judgment, before he was ripe. He lost his first game, and with it his confidence, and it required two hard seasons to regain his stride.

Marquard started as a semi-professional at Cleveland, O., as Richard de Marquis. His first notable work was with Indianapolis, for which team he won the American association pennant in 1905 and was sold for the record price as a result. Marquard was referred to as the "biggest swindle in baseball," and his stock valued at one par with certain yellow product that helped make Messina famous. Today, Giant fans call him "Rich" and the "Lion-Hearted."

Last year Marquard was unbeatable. He established a league record for strikeouts and shared honors with Mathewson. Now he has taken the place held by "Big Six" for years in the realm of futility. Marquard's great asset is his "snook." He has terrific speed, which he has learned to control, and with it an assortment of curves, such as left-handers only ever seem able to acquire.

When McGraw was being roasted to a nice dark brown for keeping Marquard, he said, "I'll keep him. I know he is there. Any youngster with the 'stuff' he has needs time. When he does come, he will be a world beater." And Marquard has shown McGraw was right. The one-time failure is the great sensation of baseball today. He commenced right where he left off last fall, and has won steadily. He has not pitched any one of two-hit games, nor established any wonderful strike-out records, but eight hits is the most made off him and but once he has given more than four bases on balls.

Marquard is fortunate in having the Giants play splendid ball behind him. The team hits and steals bases when he is on the mound, as a glance at the statistical table proves. In ten games, New York has made 81 runs for 106 hits and stolen 15 bases, while their opponents have made 25 runs for 61 hits.

CRIPPLES FIGHT AND TAKE GAMES

Manager Arndt and His Band of Injured Men Make a Showing.

ARE IN TOUGH LINES

South Bend, Ind., May 23.—The wonderful performance of the Greenbackers in the last few days must be looked upon as marvelous when it is realized that, with the exception of Kaiserling, Madden, Ferris, Coffey and Bates, all of the regulars are on the hospital list. The last principle to join the list is Tienan. Although badly banged up early last week, Tienan came back into the game when Erie appeared in South Bend and until yesterday, through sheer nerve, put up a fine article of ball. The pace was too strong, however, and when he reported Sunday his knee and throwing hand were sore and to make it impossible for him to even make a fair showing it being necessary for him to retire in the seventh when Stroh was shifted from second to back.

Arndt, going to second and Plank to first. The hospital chart shows the following victims:

"Buz" Wetzel, third baseman—Has been playing with a split rib.

Harry Arndt, first baseman—Right knee wrenched and right wrist swollen as a result of pulling in a wild throw from Tienan.

Clyde Parker, second baseman—Out of the game with a dislocated thumb.

Frank Wagner, shortstop—Playing notwithstanding a sprained ankle.

Jess Tannehill, outfielder—Victim of "charleyhorse."

George Stroh, catcher—Has split finger on throwing hand.

Zanesville, O., May 25.—Catcher Jimmy Welch, who was released optionally by the local club to the Alliance club of the O.-P. league Thursday, has refused to report to the latter team and has returned to his home in Columbus. Welch will probably be placed upon the suspended list Monday by the Zanesville management.

Pitcher Clarence Short has been suspended by the Milwaukee club for refusing to report this spring to the Brewers. A keeper himself in that state-by refusing to come to Zanesville for a reasonable salary. It is not likely that he will report.

The Zanesville management has not yet heard from the Boston Nationals regarding Pitcher Hogue, although a letter from President Ward is now nearly a week overdue.

BADGERS PLAY DECATUR SHAM-ROCKS.

The Fort Wayne Badgers will play the Decatur Shamrocks on Decoration day. The Decatur team has just been organized after a most successful season in 1911. The Badgers showed their ability at Wallen Sunday and expect to give the will leave at 11:30 over the Interurban, and will line up as follows: Goggin, cf.; Walke, ss.; Lowe, 1b.; Lentz, 1b.; J. Henry, 2b.; Henry, 3b.; Salca, 1b.; Speigl, 1b.; Burg, catchers; and Swartz and Hartwell, pitchers. The Badgers will play Manager Nolton's Grays at Zulu next Sunday. The management of the Badgers claims that it is now ready to take on all the fast amateur teams of the surrounding towns. For games address Willard Geier, Manager, 1902 Broadway, Fort Wayne, Ind.

THE JAWBONE OF A MAN WHICH WAS FOUND NOT LONG AGO NEAR HEIDELBERG, Germany, is supposed to have been 200,000 years old.

THREE PITCHERS TO BE RELEASED ANDERSON WANTS TO LEAD LEAGUE

All Will Be Given Chances Before They Are Cut Off the Staff.

MADE A SHORT VISIT LOCAL MAN SECOND

Some time between now and Friday night three members of the Fort Wayne pitching staff will be released, sent back to the clubs to which they belong or disposed of by sale or trade and in the meantime will be given chances to show just what claim they have to regular jobs.

Owner Claude H. Varnell came in yesterday afternoon and he and Manager Shaugnessy held a long conference at the Wayne hotel last night in which their course was mapped out.

Either Renner or Mercer was looked for to take the place of Lou Dell, Young and Goldrick will be tried out and three of the best will be kept and the other three disposed of. Manager Shaugnessy insists that no pitcher on the staff is certain of his job, but it is reasonably certain that Beiersdorfer will be retained, as he is pitching better ball than any man on the roster and there is little chance that he will be released.

Pitcher Stafford is expected within the next day or two as he has finished his school term and the manager knows enough of his ability to believe that he will make good and three men are to go to make room for him and to cut down to the regular regulation.

Past performances indicate that all of the men can pitch better ball than they have been able to show this season, but it is getting late and it is time for them to round to it if they expect to this year. Their habits are good and none is suffering from dissipation and just why they are not up to standard is a great puzzle.

Young, the pitcher sent over from Wheeling, has everything a pitcher needs but experience. The manager has tried him and says he never saw a youngster with a better repertoire. His curve fast and slow balls are all good.

"No man is certain to hold his job," said the manager. "Every one of the whole crowd must show me something and I shall be governed entirely by what they do. All have had plenty of chances and I think it's about time they were in condition."

Owner Claude H. Varnell went this morning to Indianapolis to be present at the Memorial day automobile races and the boxing match the night before. He and Will Collins, manager of the Wayne hotel, made the trip in an automobile and left early this morning.

Following the afternoon game on Decoration day the Fort Wayne club will leave for Youngstown, opening there the following day and the trip will include a stop at Erie on the eastern end of the circuit and will last eighteen days.

While the club is away it will play Youngstown, Erie, Wheeling, Zanesville, Akron and Canton.

The total number of parliamentary elections in the United Kingdom is now 7,984,600, an increase of 80,925 over last year.

August Thies, of Chicago, was second, with a total of 1,074 points. E. Kreuter, of Sheboygan, Wis., was third with a score of 1,041 points. T. C. Clossie, of Cleveland, was elected president of the National Skat League.

He stuck to his machine and escaped injury, but the auto was damaged and the side of the store wrecked. Several persons in the store had narrow escapes.

SIAMESE TWINS PROSPER.

Holyoke, Mass., May 28.—The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Griggs, born with bodies joined together at the hips, continue to thrive and to manifest almost disdainful independence of each other. While one slept the other clamored for nourishment. The attachment of the twins is known to physicians as an ilio-sacral union.

The attending physicians will decide within a few days whether to attempt to separate the twins by an operation.

DARROW'S NAME IS BROUGHT IN

Lawyer Was Nearing Franklin When Latter Was Arrested.

IN McNAMARA TRIAL

Los Angeles, May 23.—The name of Clarence Darrow was mentioned by George N. Lockwood, one of the prosecutors star witnesses for the first time yesterday, in connection with the former chief counsel of the McNamara brothers for alleged jury bribing.

Lockwood declared Darrow was walking toward Bert H. Franklin when the latter was arrested for bribery a few minutes after Lockwood had received the first installment of the bribe payment in the trial of J. B. McNamara.

The events of the day also included a repudiation by District Attorney Fredericks of Detective Robert J. Foster and the National Erectors' association which employs Foster, as participants in the prosecution of the Darrow case. The repudiation followed the submission of attorneys for the defense of court affidavits in support of a petition that Detective Foster be cited for contempt of court.

A morning newspaper printed an interview with Foster giving what purported to be the facts concerning the alleged trapping of Darrow in a hotel room by means of a telephone device. Foster was quoted as saying the instrument would bring about Darrow's conviction.

Requests Foster's Citation.

The defense contended that the interview was printed with a view of influencing the jury and the prosecution joining in the request for Foster's citation today.

Lockwood, who is an old soldier, said that he first visited to Franklin's office to tell him to be careful how he spoke about the money if the deal went through.

"I told him," said Lockwood, "that my wife would be the last person I would want to know about it."

Lockwood then told of another conference with the district attorney of a visit to his home by Fredericks' detectives, L. Brown, of the district attorney's office, and several others connected with the prosecution's staff.

All of them, conceived themselves about the premises after Lockwood had called up Franklin and told him to come out. Franklin, he said, had asked if he should bring out the "big one" and he told him to do so.

Fourth Degree Hearsay.

Chief Counsel Rogers for the defense, objected to this form of evidence, designating it as "fourth degree hearsay" and on the further ground that Lockwood was shown to be not a conspirator but an agent of the district attorney. The objections were overruled. Three of the men concealed themselves in the barn. When Franklin came, Lockwood asked him where Darrow was. He replied, said the witness, "did you think that Darrow would come out here?"

"I told him," said Lockwood, "that I thought he referred to Darrow when he mentioned the 'big one.' He said that he meant Captain White, whom he had selected as custodian of the money."

The witness said he had made further objection to White as "stakeholder" but Franklin insisted and finally it was argued that Lockwood should meet White the next morning at Third and Los Angeles streets, where the first payment of $500 would be made. Lockwood then told of the meeting with White the next day at the designated place, when he was given a $500 bill by White and shown $3,500 more. He said he saw Franklin across the street at the time and when Franklin approached he said he told the McNamara detective that he feared there was something wrong. He believed, he said, that some one had overheard their conversation at his home the previous night. Franklin looked back and uttered an oath, then cautioned him not to look around.

Has Learned It Was Darrow.

"Let's get out of here," Franklin told me," said the witness, and he and White and myself walked toward Main street. Near the corner a man was coming toward Franklin but Brown, of the district attorney's office, stepped between them and waved him back. They arrested Franklin."

"Who was the other man?" asked the district attorney.

"I have learned since," said the witness, "that it was Clarence Darrow."

"What did Darrow do?"

"Really I lost sight of him. I did not see him again," said Lockwood.

The witness then told of being taken with Franklin and White to the district attorney's office, where the $4,000 was turned over to Captain Fredericks.

This direct examination was not concluded when court adjourned.

NEW YORK WAITERS ON STRIKE

Holland House Crew Follows Knickerbocker Staff.

New York, May 23.—Every waiter in the Holland house walked out on a strike during the luncheon hour today to join their brethren from the Hotel Knickerbocker, who struck last night.

New York, May 23.—The places vacated by 200 waiters who went out on strike for higher wages and shorter hours have nearly all been filled by strike-breakers, according to a statement made today by James M. Regan, proprietor of the hotel. There was no disorder today.

Joseph Elster, leader of the strikers, declared that the strike would be extended to every hotel in the hotelmen's association that did not grant the waiters' demands. This includes many of the city's best known establishments.

MERLE ROW SENTENCED.

Prison Term for Young Man Who Stole Money to Woo.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 23.—Merle Row, 21 years old, assistant postmaster at Harrisville, who embezzled the government's money to meet his expenses while he wooed and won the daughter of a wealthy Randolph county farmer, and who was willing to see his father, the postmaster, face prosecution for the crime, was sentenced to the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth for two years by Judge Anderson today.

The bride of only two months, whose marriage to young Row took place only two or three days after the exposure that he and not his father was the embezzler, wept violently in court, when it became apparent that her husband was to serve a sentence and had to be assisted from the courtroom.

HAD A "BEER KEG PARTY."

New Brunswick, N. J., May 23.—Forty-nine of the sixty-five seniors at Rutgers college were indefinitely suspended yesterday for alleged attendance at a "beer keg party" at Raritan landing, after the class banquet last Friday night. The student body asserts its indignation that the faculty should have taken the action, and declares that similar post-graduation revelry has been the custom set by other graduating classes without being disciplined.

Among the suspended are several members of the base ball team and an officer of the Prohibition league at the college.

METHODISTS LAUD DR. J. M. BUCKLEY

Praise Work of Veteran Editor During Term of 32 Years.

MEETING NEAR CLOSE

Minneapolis, Minn., May 23.—Resolutions praising the 32 years' work of J. M. Buckley, of New York, who yesterday retired as editor of the Christian Advocate offered at today's session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, brought forth scores of speeches in his honor. The resolutions were adopted unanimously.

By a vote of 403 to 298 a conference adopted a minority report whereby the work of the different diocesan organizations of the church henceforth is to be administered by a non-partisan board and is not to be under the direction of the Woman's Home Missionary society.

The Episcopacy board in a report proposed bishops accepting engagements outside the church or the acceptance by bishops of more than actual expenses in performing services in connection with church work. A minority report also was presented opposing the granting of a "free bishop" for the negro churches of the south. The claim was made by the minority that such action would be construed by opposing sects as discrimination. Action was not taken on either report.

With adjournment of the general conference about 24 hours away, many delegates already have departed and it is probable that before tonight's session is closed there will be not much more than a quorum for the transaction of business.

Will Retire Automatically.

The Methodist Episcopal conference has adopted the plan of making automatic the retirement of bishops at the general conference nearest his 73rd birthday. The plan will go into effect at the beginning of the next general conference and will replace the present method of superannuating bishops by vote of the conference.

The conference rejected an amendment introduced by Robert Forney, of Philadelphia, which provided that any charges made against bishops should be presented to the senior bishop, who should present it to the board of bishops and that the case should be heard behind closed doors.

In reply to the action of the church early in the session asking that the United States recognize the new representative of China, a letter today was received from Secretary of State Philander C. Knox in which he declared that it was the disposition of the executive to accord recognition to the new Chinese government at the earliest opportunity afforded under the established usages of international law.

WILL NOT BE PRESENTED.

Pennsylvania Agreement Has Not Been Returned From Pittsburgh.

The agreement with the Pennsylvania wide branches the new depot and street vacation west of Calhoun street has not been returned from the officials at Pittsburgh and will not be presented at the council meeting tonight.

A new ordinance regulating signs and repeating one that was passed some time ago will be presented. It is drawn at the suggestion of the Retail Merchants' association.

In the absence of President Louis Schroeder, who is ill at his home, it is not likely the council will make a report on the bond issue request of the park board.

COURT DENIES MOTION.

Will Not Restrain Sale of Coffee Held in New York Warehouses.

New York, May 23.—Judge Lacombe this morning filed the decision of the federal circuit court judges denying the motion for an injunction to restrain the alleged Brazilian coffee valorizations combine from parting with 950,000 bags of coffee in the warehouses of the New York Dock company in Brooklyn.

Judge Lacombe held that the government made no provisions to reimburse the defendants for the coffee, which probably would be a total loss if impounded for any length of time, in case the government lost its suit and for this reason denied the injunction.

COURT SUSTAINS APPEAL OF DRYS

May Use All Legal Means to Oppose Granting of Licenses.

FRENCH LICK CASES

Indianapolis, May 23.—The supreme court today held that the "dry" have the right under the law to use any or all the means provided by law to prevent the granting of saloon licenses by a board of county commissioners, and that the adoption of one plan by the "drys" does not prevent them from using any other legal means at their command to accomplish the end.

The case came up on appeal from a decision of the Orange circuit court, and it put six saloons in French Lick township out of business. Shortly after the passage of the Proctor local option law, in 1911, some of the residents of French Lick township asked for a local option election. The election resulted in a "wet" victory by a majority of 12.

The "drys" became fearful of the prospective result and the day before the election they filed a remonstrance against the granting of any saloon licenses within the township. The board of county commissioners held the remonstrance good and refused to grant the license to any of the eight applicants. The applicants appealed to the circuit court, which found that the township was entitled to six saloons and it granted that number of licenses. From this decision the "drys" appealed to the supreme court.

FAIR DIVORCEE TO WED.

New York, May 23.—Mrs. Beaty Chapman Pierce, who divorced T. Irvin Chapman, of Boston, seven years ago, and whose marriage to Roy E. Pierce, son of H. Clay Pierce, of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, was annulled last fall, will be married tonight, it is reported, to Frank Clarence Henderson, an oil man of New York, and now at Tulsa, Okla. The couple have planned a two years' honeymoon journey abroad.

Mrs. Pierce has been living at the home of her mother, Mrs. Robert Faulkner, where the wedding will take place. "Lucky Betty" Faulkner, as she has often been called, belonged to an old Boston family and for several years appeared on the stage.

WILL NOMINATE TOMORROW.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 23.—Indiana prohibitionists gathered in this city today for their state convention, which tomorrow is to adopt a platform and name a ticket. Three men are mentioned for the nomination for governor: The Rev. A. W. Jackson, Atter, Dr. H. W. Hickman, Pennville, and A. B. Kirkpatrick, Kokomo.

F. W. Lough, state chairman, called the convention to order. Committees were to be selected at district delegate meetings.

KILLS WIFE; SUICIDES.

Evansville, Ind., May 23.—Steven J. Bivins, a farmer living near Banchville, in Perry county, killed his wife with a hatchet yesterday and then went to the barn loft where he turned an old army musket on himself, discharging it with a stick and dying instantly. The couple had violent quarrel, neighbors say, owing, it is said, to the manner in which she kept house and prepared his meals.

LOGANSPOUT SWATS THE FLY.

Logansport, Ind., May 23.—The "swat the fly" crusade in Logansport has started so vigorously that free admission is offered by the moving picture theaters to every person who burns in twenty dead flies at the box office. There are four different moving picture theaters in the city and it is estimated that about a peck of flies have been received.

Figuring on the basis that one fly killed now means a million less in the summer, Logansport ought to be a "fly-less town" in July and August, enthusiasts are declaring.

PLANS FOR SANITARIUM.

Griffith & Fair, local architects, have completed plans for the fifty-room sanitarium to be erected at Woodburn, for the Blue Cast Mineral Springs company. The contract will begin work on the new structure within two weeks.

CALLAHAN IS SUSPENDED.

Cleveland, May 23.—Manager Callahan, of the Chicago Americans, today received notice from President Ben Johnson, of the American league, of a three days' suspension for Callahan's run-in with "Empire" Westervelt during the Chicago-Detroit game last Saturday. This means that Callahan will miss five games, as the Chicagoans play a double-header with Cleveland today, one game tomorrow and two games on Decoration day. Callahan will send McIntyre to the outfield.

TAKES MIDNIGHT STROLL.

Taft Disdains Bed After Strenuous Day of Campaigning.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 23.—Although he did not get to bed until long after midnight President Taft went early today to begin the last lap of his New Jersey campaign. He left Atlantic City by special train shortly after 7 o'clock, with speeches planned for nearly a dozen small towns before noon.

It was after midnight when Mr. Taft finished dinner, but he refused to go to bed, and with ex-Governor Franklin Murphy, of New Jersey, and Major Thomas L. Rhoades, his secretary and aide, three secret service men and a dozen reporters, he started out for a stroll on the boardwalk. There were only

The SENTINEL Brings the Famous Brady War Photographs to this City

A TIMELY OCCASION brings a timely announcement. These are the days when the Civil War is being commemorated throughout the land. Just fifty years ago we were in the midst of a terrific struggle--the most momentous in our history. Each day and each week we live over again some famous battle or critical event which took place upon some unforgettable day. The semi-centennial brings to you--through the SENTINEL--the most timely as well as the most typical souvenir of that titanic conflict.

The Civil War Through the Camera

A NEWLY WRITTEN, IMPARTIAL STORY OF THE GREAT CONFLICT

By Professor Henry W. Elson, of Ohio University

ILLUSTRATED BY THE FAMOUS BRADY WAR PHOTOGRAPHS

Published by Authority of the United States War Department.

Every American home is full of memories of the great Civil War. In some it was a father or a brother who actually served. In many the fast ageing veterans still linger to bear their eloquent witness. In each and all we celebrate the red-letter dates, "just fifty years ago today," with kindling hearts. What more timely, therefore, than the publication and wide distribution of the actual photographs of that historic time? It seems too wonderful to be true--yet here they are! The famous Brady war pictures lost for many years--only recently discovered-- worth a king's ransom--have been placed within reach of every patriotic man and woman, boy and girl in Fort Wayne. They are yours practically for the asking!

When the Sentinel heard of this magnificent undertaking, it at once determined to secure the prize for the people of Ft. Wayne regardless of expense. It has entered into a great national publishing alliance, whose object is to place in every intelligent and patriotic home in this country, no matter how limited its means, this vivid memorial of National valor known as THE CIVIL WAR THROUGH THE CAMERA.

We will supply everybody--subscribers and non-subscribers alike, who apply in time with one of the complete sections of this monumental work, at the bare cost of distribution, ONLY TEN CENTS. These beautiful portfolios give in interesting text and war-time pictures the complete accounts of all the most important events of the war. The series naturally begins with Bull Run, that first great encounter of armed troops of the North and South.

The contingent fee is so small that it cannot cover the cost of this distribution unless a large number of portfolios are issued. To be exact--unless more than one million copies shall be distributed to subscribers to this great organization, the nominal fee asked will fail to equal the expense incurred in collecting, identifying, and bringing this priceless collection to the American people.

But already the response in various parts of the country has been tremendous and, knowing the people of Fort Wayne as we do, our only concern is that we will be able to supply the great demand.

16 SUPERBLY ILLUSTRATED SECTIONS---EACH SECTION ONLY 10 CTS
ISSUED ONE EACH WEEK --- EACH SECTION COMPLETE

EACH PART CONTAINING A BEAUTIFUL FAC-SIMILE PAINTING OF THRILLING SUBJECTS IN VIVID COLORS.

Every Important Event Depicted

The series will be completed in sixteen parts, superbly and profusely illustrated from the famous photographs. Each week the Sentinel will issue one of these parts in its regular sequence, thus enabling you to follow the stirring events of half a century ago just as they occurred. In this way every important event and phase of the war are covered.

Another good feature--every section is complete in itself. You can obtain one or all, just as you desire. You don't have to keep in your head anything that went before. Each part tells the full, entire story of a whole battle, from the first scouting party to the last gun fired. You enter into all the hopes and fears of the grim generals lined up for the fight. You learn what forces they had, and what brought on the struggle. You watch the opposing lines gradually close in.

Then comes the first screaming bullet and the dull shock of conflict. Back and forth you see them; they surge until one side gives way. Another chapter in history has been written. And with all the thrill of an eye-witness you come to know, as you never did before, the meaning of the words, Bull Run, Shiloh, Corinth, Fredericksburg, and all the rest down to Appomattox!

The History by Professor Henry W. Elson

This is far more than a collection of pictures--however unique and valuable. Not only is every picture completely described--a feature of the utmost value and true only of the present work--but there is also a clear, interesting story of the battle or events from the masterly pen of Professor Henry W. Elson, of Ohio University.

Like the photographs, the text of THE CIVIL WAR THROUGH THE CAMERA is surprising. It is absolutely different from any and all of the histories you are used to. It is the kind of history you will like--you will want your children to know--and, best of all, the sort they will read without any urging. For it is as fascinating as a fairy tale.

It is a lesson in patriotism they will never forget.

More than that--it is absolutely fair and impartial. The day has long since passed when we can afford to take sides, or tell a big story from only one point of view. This is the biggest of our stories, and it has been told from a national viewpoint. Both sides have had their say--and the facts have been allowed to speak for themselves.

The resultant work represents United America--with its pride in the valor of the Blue and the Gray alike!

CONTENTS OF SECTION ONE

SECTION ONE--ready this week--deals with the outbreak of hostilities and the Battle of Bull Run. Professor Elson's story gives the reader all the essential facts in a vivid way.

For illustrations, there is a beautiful colored plate, The Battle of Bull Run; and the following war-time scenes reproduced directly from the rare photographs: Views of Fort Sumter and its Commander. Fort Sumter after the Bombardment. Its appearance while in the Hands of the Confederates. A War-Time Mass-Meeting in New York Pledging Support to the Union. The Cabinet of President Jefferson Davis. General McDowell, the Defender of Washington. General P. G. T. Beauregard, the Southerner of the Hour in '61. The Minnesota Volunteer Regiment that fought at Bull Run. Mrs. Greenhow, the Confederate Spy, who sent the News of McDowell's advance to Beauregard. Union Troops from Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Vermont. Scenes of Bull Run Battlefield. Prisoners of the Confederacy in Castle Pinckney, Charleston Harbor.

Next to having taken an active part in the War--in its marches and bivouacs, its vigils and battles, its defeats and victories--I rank as a means of realization of its meaning and value the attentive inspection of those "Photographs." I should wish a place were given to them in every home, in every school-house, in every public library of America.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

A really noteworthy work. The photographs thus collected are not only of a permanent value, but will have a steadily increasing value for the historian as time elapses.

The Sentinel is proud of this opportunity to place in the patriotic homes of this city the priceless collection of Civil War Photographs and delighted to present them to everyone--subscribers or non-subscribers--who applies promptly.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

FRANKNESS WITH PAPERS IS URGED

Railway Editor Advises the Roads to Give Full Facts to the Press.

WABASH FREIGHT DEPOT SOON READY

Track Laying Being Rushed and Opening is Question of But Short Time.

Absolute frankness in the relations of the railways and the newspapers is advocated by Samuel O. Dunn, editor of the Railway Age Gazette, who writes interestingly in the current issue of "The Newspapers and the Railways."

"Many railway men have become aware that when anything happens on a road that is of public interest or concern, the best policy is frankly to tell the facts, whether they reflect credit on the railway or not," writes Mr. Dunn.

"A policy of suppression, either out of regard for the feelings of the railway's claim department, or for any other cause, is not right. Nor is it expedient; for the newspapers are sure, when they hear about an accident, for example, to publish something."

"It is also true that many railways leave the handling of news regarding their affairs to their advertising departments, and that advertising agents and those employed specifically as publicity agents, sometimes send out as news what really is not news, but advertising. Frequently this is the fault of their superior officers, who, while perhaps knowing little or nothing about the newspaper business, are unwilling to be guided by the knowledge and advice of those who do know something about it."

EVENT WAS BIG SUCCESS.

Farce Given by Bowser Girls' Club Pleased Large Audience.

One of the pleasant events of the past week was the farce comedy, the French Maid and the Phonograph, given by the Bowser Girls' club at the James Smart school. The audience was large and appreciative. The manner in which everything was handled showed much care and ability in the arrangements and details.

Miss Ruth Laekey as Flossie, Miss Maud Challenger as Mollie, Miss Mary Philleas as Mary Ann French, Miss Lois Drago as Madam Renard, Miss Helen Emmett as Lottie, and Miss Jessie Graham as Mrs. Green, all delighted and surprised their audience by the manner in which they lived their parts. The girls showed very decided ability and it was very evident had given much study to the proper interpretation of the characters they represented, in which they were very ably assisted by Miss Virginia Philleas. The party scene was charming and the scarf drill beautiful.

Several local organizations are endeavoring to have the club repeat the entertainment and it may be possible the public will have another opportunity of seeing what the girls can do. This fall the club anticipates taking up something heavier and all their friends will look forward with pleasure to future entertainments given by this organization and predict for them the same success as they had with the French Maid and the Phonograph.

TRACK BEING LAID.

Wabash Company Will Soon Have New Freight House in Operation.

Workmen are busily engaged in grading, laying ties and putting down the necessary trackwork for the magnificent new Wabash freight station in this city. Work on the building is so far advanced that by the time the new tracks are laid the structure will be ready for business. Ten days will probably be the time consumed in placing everything in readiness for the opening.

Officials of the company have been purchasing land along the right-of-way between this city and New Haven to accommodate a second track, which a force of workmen is now engaged in laying. An additional strip of ground about fifteen feet in width along the right-of-way between this city and New Haven has been secured.

A force of construction men is also engaged in laying a double track from the junction of the Wabash with the Lake Erie and Western road, three miles southwest of this city. A low place along the track will be filled in, thus necessitating the raising of the railroad bridge which crosses the St. Mary's river to a height of nearly ten feet.

When the work of track-laying is completed the Wabash company will have a double track extending from New Haven to the L. E. & W. junction west of this city, which will afford greater facilities for handling trains and minimize the chances of congestion of traffic.

FINE SPECIAL TRAIN.

One of the finest trains ever run will start next Saturday from New York en route to Seattle, carrying the delegates to the National Electric Light association convention which meets in that city June 10. The train will be known as the "Pink Special," made up of nine cars, and will be under the personal supervision of J. C. McQuiston, manager of the department of publicity of the Westinghouse companies. A large number of the most prominent men in the electric lighting industry from all over the east will be members of the party. The train will leave New York over the Pennsylvania railroad, arriving in Pittsburgh at 7 p. m., where it will be transferred to the Pennsylvania lines west, and will arrive in this city some time Monday, June 3, en route to Chicago; thence west from that city over various lines to Vancouver, B. C., where the party will take steamer for Seattle, arriving in that city Sunday night, June 8.

TOWER FAMILY REUNION.

A. M. Town, machinist in the Pennsylvania shops at this city, is in receipt of a notice to the effect that the fourth annual reunion of the descendants of John Tower (14) will be held in Detroit, Mich. June 7th, 8th and 9th, 1912. The reunions have been held heretofore in Hingham, Mass., or in the vicinity, where the founder of the family lived, but as the name of Tower has been carried to every part of the country, and as so many of them are settled in the middle states it was thought better to have the reunion held in Detroit this year. Mr. Tower and family and his sister, Miss Maggie Tower, a teacher in the Clay street school, will probably attend the reunion.

INJURED MAN STILL UNCONSCIOUS.

Elias Mougherman, who was picked up along the Lake Shore tracks near Ashley Sunday morning and brought to the Lutheran hospital in this city is still in an unconscious condition and little hope is entertained for his recovery. He is about fifty-four years of age, and the authorities have as yet been unable to learn the whereabouts of any of his relatives. It is supposed that the injured man fell from a train some time Sunday night.

SUIT AGAINST G. R. & I.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railway company is defendant in a suit at Indianapolis, brought by District Attorney Miller, in behalf of the United States government, for violation of the hours of service act. The suit is for $1,000 in penalties and the complaint charges that the railway company kept an engineer and fireman on duty for nineteen consecutive hours on an extra train between this city and Wolcottville, the statute permitting only a day or so, after which Chairman J. H. Hobcock will proceed with the appointment of the various committees for the affair.

PENNSY EXCURSION COMMITTEE.

The excursion committee having in charge the preliminary arrangements for the annual excursion of the Pennsylvania company employees to Rome City, which will be held this year on July 22, made all the necessary arrangements as to boats, land stand, meals, etc., at Rome City yesterday. A meeting of the committee will be held in a day or so, after which Chairman J. H. Hobcock will proceed with the appointment of the various committees for the affair.

Wolverine Club With 180 Members Arrive Here Today.

ON WAY TO THE RACES

Motoring from Detroit to Indianapolis to attend the speedway races Decoration day, 180 members of the Wolverine club, of Detroit, will be guests over night at the Anthony hotel. Reservations for this number have been made by Manager Will A. Black. Members of the club in automobiles motored into the city late this afternoon, tired and dirty from the long road journey, and when informed by the hotel that they would have to "double" in rooms so that the hostelry could take care of its regular commercial guests, not the least objection was made.

The autoists will leave Fort Wayne early Wednesday morning on the last lap of its tour. The return trip will be made by way of Dayton, Ohio. The club consists of practically all of the motor celebrities in Detroit.

Another Party. Reservations have been made at the Randall hotel by the Regal Motor Car company for the following officials and attendants, en route to Indianapolis: C. R. Lambert, president; Fred W. Haines, vice president; Bert Lambert, treasurer; Mr. Leasey, and the chauffeurs. The party will remain in Fort Wayne over night and will leave for the capital city Wednesday morning.

Is Stopping Point. Fort Wayne is being visited today by hundreds of motorists en route to Indianapolis for the great speedway events. The city is a sort of stopping off place for motorists who take occasion to replenish their gasoline tanks and make preparations to take care of many autoists tonight who will reach the city too late to continue their trip until morning.

"I Will Vote for Champ First, Last and All the Time," Says Sister-in-Law, Delegate to Baltimore

MRS. ANNIE HAMILTON PITZER.

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 27.—Champ Clark is sure of one vote at the democratic national convention—one delegate whom nothing on earth could move to vote for anyone but Clark.

That delegate is Mrs. Annie Hamilton Pitzer. "I sure will vote for Champ until he's nominated, as I know he will be," she said in the modest little parlor of her modest, "comfy" home. A statuette of a lion, "houn" days" alone added a touch of politics to the room.

Mrs. Pitzer is instructed for Champ. Also she's his sister-in-law; his wife's oldest sister, and the "technician" who aided Dad Cupid in leading Champ from "single cussedness," as they say in Pike county, Missouri.

The Baltimore convention will be the first where a woman relative of one of the candidates voted for him.

Mrs. Pitzer is gray-haired, motherly, a suffragist, and a voter since 1893. She has firm convictions regarding woman's duty in the struggle to restore government to the people. She calls herself a progressive democrat.

"I always thought Champ would be president," Mrs. Pitzer said, adding, "because he always wanted to be."

"While I was living in Pike county, Missouri, Genevieve, my younger sister, came to visit me, and while there met Champ—and her fate. It was real love from the first, and I was invariably appealed to as a 'board of arbitration.' After each little lovers' quarrel Champ would beg me to smooth things out with Genevieve, and I always did."

Mrs. Pitzer has been a delegate to county and state conventions several times, has served on the state central committee and "knows the ropes," though she doesn't look a bit like a woman politician.

RETURNS FOR TITLE.

Once Arrested for Deserting Child, Is Heir to Fortune.

Evansville, Ind., May 28.—Cecil W. Vivian, an Englishman, left this city for London, England, to claim a title and an estate estimated at $500,000, including London property and three country houses. Vivian, completely lost to members of his family, was traced through the fact that he was arrested here two months ago on a charge of deserting a child. The administrators of his mother's property tried since last September to trace him in this country, but without result, until they learned of his arrest here.

CHASE DOG 25 MILES.

Noblesville Police and Doctor Kill Animal that Terrorized City.

Noblesville, Ind., May 28.—The police force of Noblesville headed by Dr. F. A. Tucker, president of the state board of health, chased a mad dog through the streets of the city for several hours before the animal was killed. It had been loose since midnight, had bitten thirty dogs and terrorized the town. One of the dogs bit a small child of Walter Sanders, but it is believed the injury is not serious. All of the dogs attacked by the mad dog are being shot as soon as they can be located. When the chase of the police ended the speedometer on Dr. Tucker's automobile showed that the machine had traveled twenty-five miles in following the mad canine.

BEE STOP FARMER'S WORK.

Swarm Settles in Field and Man Quits Planting His Corn.

Connersville, Ind., May 28.—A swarm of bees caused Charles Martin, a farmer, to postpone the planting of his corn. He was plowing and planting by turns, and had only a few furrows left to turn, when a big swarm of bees settled in the very center of the remaining land. Mr. Martin, though a farmer, is afraid of bees, for they sting him on slight provocation. He unhitched his horses, went home reluctantly and rested half of a golden afternoon, though his crop was late.

"I'VE JUST ESCAPED FROM OHIO," WRITES A MERE MAN; HE'S SAFE NOW, WORKING IN A POWDER FACTORY.

By a Mere Man.

I have just escaped from Ohio. I feel safe now. I'm working in a powder factory.

This is a mad world. It used to be said that it was a man's world, whenever a gentleman was haled into police court for beating his wife, and honorably acquitted. But it is so no longer.

I held a prominent position as a bill poster in Cincinnati until last week. I was nonchalantly engaged at my profession one day, with no thought of impending evil, when who should come up to the same board upon which I was working but two women, a paste pot and a large number of three-sheet posters between them.

They unfolded their sheets and pasted them up with neatness and dispatch. They did a good job of it, I must admit. They probably do their own paper hanging at home.

The posters read: "Votes for Women."

"Ah!" I said. "You are suffragettes!"

Ohio is no place for a mere man these days. The Ohio constitutional convention voted to submit the question of woman's suffrage to the people—the people in Ohio having been up to the present the male portion. And thus it pulled down upon the heads of the people—meaning us men—a suffragette campaign that is going to last all through the hot summer days.

The suffragettes are not only doing their own bill pasting, but are personally conducting other forms of advertising. Pause for the nonce and gaze upon a typical street scene in an Ohio metropolis.

Northwest corner: A suffragette with a megaphone announcing to hurrying men that there is to be a meeting for MEN, conducted by women, tomorrow night.

Southwest corner: Suffragettes in auto telling group of noonday idlers that their home life will not be destroyed by votes for women.

Southeast corner, in store: A pretty young suffragette demonstrating suffrage arguments by means of large posters, and at the same time giving substantial proof that all suffragettes are not old maids.

Up the street, north side: Suffragette headquarters, draped in yellow bunting and large streamers inviting men to come in and be converted.

Imported suffragettes from the east may be observed chasing the doubting man voter in automobiles from ward to ward and precinct to precinct and factory to factory.

But I care naught. I have escaped.

Agricultural Education Has Reached Immense Proportions.

FOR NATION'S GOOD

Washington, May 28.—As indicating the diversity of methods employed to keep the United States in its position as the leading agricultural nation in the world, the United States bureau of education notes that instruction in efficiency methods on the farm is now given in this country through no less than eleven main agencies. These agencies, according to the bureau, are elementary and secondary schools, and agricultural high schools; county schools of agriculture; traveling schools teaching the same pursuit; farmers' educational clubs and like organizations; gardens for city schools; normal schools of agriculture; and colleges of agriculture.

In order to supply the basis for a complete understanding of this movement, Edward D. Greenman, in charge of the reference section of the bureau of education, has prepared a bibliography on the subject.

First Chair in Agriculture.

"The majority of these references," said Mr. Greenman, "are of comparative recent date, for the reason that the movement toward agricultural education itself has attained considerable proportions only within a very few years. Thus, it is interesting to note that the first chair in agricultural education, as such, in this country, was founded by the Massachusetts agricultural college in 1907. Now about two-thirds of the agricultural and mechanical colleges in the United States are offering some opportunity for special preparation for teaching agriculture. Agricultural institutions of college grade have, of course, been in existence for many years, but the agricultural education of children is a movement of such recent growth that it may almost be said to be even now in its teens."

In addition to a bibliography on agricultural education in all its phases, the bureau of education's monograph contains an exhaustive compilation of literature on the teaching of domestic science, cookery and home economics.

Same Degrees Received.

"The nation-wide movement for the instruction of young girls in the household arts as parallel courses to those of brothers," said Miss Wright, of the bureau, "is even more of an innovation than the teaching of agriculture itself to children. Nevertheless, the newer subject has made such rapid strides that today practically every elementary school or high school which offers agriculture to its pupils also includes domestic science in its course as well."

Indeed, the two courses are regarded as so intimately related that in many colleges the domestic science courses are included in the department of agriculture, the girl graduates from the cooking school receiving the same agricultural degrees as do the boys, who take the instruction in agriculture."

SOCIALIST FLAG STIRS FIGHT.

Party Banner Still Waves Despite Shelbyville Man's Protest.

Shelbyville, Ind., May 28.—Because the red flag of socialism had been hoisted above the stars and stripes at socialist headquarters here, Roy Van Arndall and Clarence Hunt got into an argument that ended in a furious fight. Both were badly beaten up. The use of the red flag here has caused trouble several times recently, but it still waves above the American flag.

PLAN A PERPETUAL CALENDAR

All Nations to Unite in Working Out an Idea Long in Minds of Many.

A conference of all nations will be held next summer at Geneva, Switzerland, to discuss suggestions for an international perpetual calendar. At that time Leroy S. Boyd will present his calendar, which has 13 months of 28 days each, making a total of 364 days in the year. The 365th day is not included in any month, but will precede the first day of January, and will be called New Year's day. A similar arrangement is made for leap years. The 366th day is not counted in any month, but follows the last day of December and is called Leap Year day. The additional month is called Solaris, and comes between June and July. As an illustration, the year 1916 is used, because, according to the present calendar the first day of that year will begin on Saturday, which would become New Year's day under the perpetual calendar. That would make the following day, Sunday, be known as Jan. 1, 1916. Every month would have the same number of days and every month and every week would begin on Sunday and end on Saturday. That would make the same date in each month fall on the same day of the week.

Such a perpetual calendar would make it unnecessary to have a printed calendar for every month, because the days of each month are identical with those of the first month. One of the benefits expected to result from a perpetual calendar is that it will facilitate business calculations. Under the new system a month will mean exactly 28 days and not 30 or 31 days, as at present.

Must Do Without Almanac. It looks as if the Chinese public in the south will be in a fix this year for the want of the usual almanac, which is an indispensable requisite in every household in order to distinguish between lucky and unlucky days and the like. The little kobos are sold by the hundreds of thousands and the trade got them ready as usual. To meet the situation new covers were put on with the new dates, while the inside remained the same as if there had been no change. The sale of these is strictly interdicted and nothing has been provided to take their place.—Pekin Daily News.

Fireman's Unique Wedding. A fireman's wedding in a burnt-out church is certainly something of a novelty. Such a wedding has just taken place in the chancel of St. George's, Leicester, the greater part of the building having been destroyed by fire last year. It was the first fireman's wedding in Leicester, and the bridegroom's colleague, formed a guard of honor and arranged an arch of axes, etc., under which the bride and bridegroom passed out after the ceremony. Fireman Sturges, the bridegroom, was among those who fought the flames at St. George's last October.—London Tit-Bits.

PLACES BURDEN OF BLAME ON CAPTAIN

At the outset Senator Smith defended the course of his committee in holding British subjects to secure their testimony without delay, and briefly answered criticism of his lack of nautical knowledge.

"Our course was simple and plain—to gather the facts relating to this disaster while they were still vivid realities," he said. "Questions of diverse citizenship gave way to the universal desire for the simple truth. It was of paramount importance that we should act quickly to avoid jurisdictional confusion and organized opposition at home or abroad. We, of course, recognized that the ship was under a foreign flag; but the lives of many of our own countrymen had been sacrificed and the safety of many had been put in grave peril, and it was vital that the entire matter should be reviewed before an American tribunal if legislative action was to be taken for future guidance.

Little Escaped Scrutiny.

"Without any pretension to experience or special knowledge of nautical affairs, nevertheless I am of the opinion that very few important facts which were susceptible of being known escaped our scrutiny. Energy is often more desirable than learning, and the inquiry serves a useful purpose to the state.

"In the construction of the Titanic," continued the senator, "no limit of cost circumscribed their endeavor, and when this vessel took its place at the head of the line every modern improvement in shipbuilding was supposed to have been utilized; so confident were they that both owner and builder were eager to go upon the trial trip.

"When the crisis came a state of absolute unpreparedness stupefied both passengers and crew and, in their despair, the ship went down, carrying as needless a sacrifice of noble women and brave men as ever clustered about the judgment seat in any single moment of passing time.

Money Contributory Causes.

"We shall leave to the honest judgment of England its painstaking criticism of the British board of trade, to whose laxity of regulation and hasty inspection the world is largely indebted for this awful fatality. Of contributory causes there were very many. In the face of warning signals, speed was increased, and messages of danger seemed to stimulate her to action rather than to persuade her to fear.

"The Titanic rushed onward on her true course—one recognized as appropriate and agreed upon by mariners as the international highway for westbound vessels, yet dangerous at this season of the year, when the Labrador current may be bearing vast masses of ice across the track of ships—scores of these towering glaciers planted themselves in the very pathway of this ship and were so large and so numerous that, in the absence of fog, they should have been easily discernible by the lookout. If, as he says in his testimony, he had been supplied with glasses.

"Captain Smith knew the sea and his clear eye and steady hand had often guided his ship through dangerous paths; for forty years storms sought in vain to vex him or menace his craft. His indifference to danger was one of the direct and contributing causes of this unnecessary tragedy, while his own willingness to die was the expiating evidence of his fitness to live; those of us who knew him well—not in anger, but in sorrow—file confidence and neglect against him, overconfidence and neglect to heed the oft-repeated warnings of his friends; but, in his horrible dismay, when his brain was afire with honest tribulation, we can still see, in his madly hearing and his tender solicitude for the safety of women and little children, some traces of his lofty spirit."

Mystery of His Indifference.

"The mystery of his indifference to danger, when other and less pretentious vessels doubled their lookout or stopped their engines, find no reasonable hypothesis in conjecture or speculation; science in shipbuilding was supposed to have attained perfection and to have spoken the last word; mastery of the ocean had at last been achieved; but overconfidence seems to have dulled the faculties usually so alert. With the atmosphere literally charged with warning signals and wireless messages registering their last appeal, the stokers in the engine room fed their fires with fresh fuel, registering in that dangerous place her fastest speed.

Nature gave a warning of approaching peril so significant that passengers in stateroom and steerage shut out the chill and spoke to one another of the sudden cold. Sailors off the Grand Banks knew the importance of the thermometer, which is almost as necessary to their safety as is the compass. Even the quartermaster, Hiebens, who regularly took the temperature of the water from the sea, said: "It suddenly became bitter cold," and added that the first order received by him from Second Officer Lightoller at 8 o'clock Sunday evening was "to take his compliments down to the ship's carpenter and inform him to look to his fresh water, that it was about to freeze."

Made Matters Worse.

Senator Smith declared that the command of the officer of the watch to avert the disaster actually exposed the most vulnerable part of the Titanic to the ice when the shock came.

"Disturbed by the sudden appearance of danger," said the speaker, "the sharp turner aside the prow, the part best prepared to resist collision, exposing the temple to the blow; at the turn of the bilge the steel enclosure yielded to a glancing blow so slight that the impact was not felt in many part of the ship, although representing an energy of more than a million foot tons, said to be the equivalent of the combined broadsides of twenty of the largest guns in our battleship fleet fired at the same moment, with a blow so deadly many of the passengers and crew did not even know of the collision until tardily advised of the danger by anxious friends, and even then official statements were clothed in such confident assurances of safety as to arouse no fear.

Senator Smith said that the awful force of the impact must have indicated to master and builder that the ship was doomed. He commented caustically upon the failure of the ship's officers immediately to give general alarm or to establish some orderly routine.

Condemned Reign of Silence.

He condemned the "reign of silence" concerning the details of the disaster. In condemning the failure of the Californian to learn all about the disaster before the Titanic sank and go to her rescue, Senator Smith said:

"The steamship Californian was within easy reach of this ship for nearly four hours after all the facts were known to Operator Cottam. The captain of the Carpathia says he gave explicit directions that all official messages should be immediately sent through other ships, and messages of passengers should be given preference. According to Binns, the inspector, the apparatus of the Californian was practically new and easily tuned to carry every detail of that calamity to the coast stations at Cape Sable and Cape Race, and should have done so.

"The course taken was singularly in accord with the reticence of the officials of the White Star company, who knew at 2:30 Monday morning," said the senator, "what was supposed to have occurred, and yet, at 7:51 Monday evening, a message from their office, officially signed containing positive assurance of the safety of the passengers was sent to a half-crazed father at Huntington, Va., nearly two hours after their admitted familiarity with the details of the disaster. It is little wonder that we have not been able to fix with definiteness the author of this falsehood."

Senator Smith reviewed the testimony of Captain Lord, showing that the Californian came within four miles of the doomed vessel and that he went to his room to lie down while signal rockets were being fired.

"Failure of Captain Lord to arouse the wireless operator on his ship, who easily could have ascertained the nature of the vessel in distress and reached her in time to avert loss of life," said Senator Smith, "places tremendous responsibility upon this officer, from which it will be difficult for him to escape.

"Contrast, if you will, the conduct of the captain of the Carpathia in this emergency and imagine what must be the consolation of that thoughtful and sympathetic mariner, who rescued the shipwrecked and left the people of the world his debtor as his ship sailed for distant seas a few days ago. By his utter self-effacement and his own indifference to peril by his promptness and his knightly sympathy, he rendered a great service to humanity. He should be made to realize the debt of gratitude this nation owes to him, while the book of good deeds, which had so often been familiar with his unaffected valor, would henceforth carry the name of Captain Rostrom to the remotest period of time.

"The lessons of this hour," said Senator Smith in conclusion, "are, indeed, fruitless, and its precepts ill-conceived if rules of action do not follow hard upon the day of reckoning. Obsolete and antiquated shipping laws should no longer encumber the parliamentary records of any government, and overpriced administrative boards should be pruned of dead branches and less sterile precepts taught and applied."

Smith Submits Report.

Just before delivering his speech, Senator Smith, chairman of the subcommittee which investigated the wreck, submitted the committee's report and its conclusions. The report is largely a review of the evidence, and contains recommendations for legislation. No particular person is named as being responsible though attention is called to the fact that on the day of the disaster three distinct warnings of ice were sent to Captain Smith. J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, is not held responsible for the ship's high speed. In fact he is barely mentioned in the report.

On the whole the report is impassive and Senator Smith, in his speech, went more fully into a discussion of the causes of the disaster than does the committee.

Agree on Conclusions.

The committee agreed upon these principal conclusions: The supposedly water-tight compartments of the Titanic were not water tight, because of the non-water tight condition of the decks, where the transverse bulkheads ended. The steamship Californian, controlled by the same concern as the Titanic, was nearer the sinking steamer than the 19 miles reported by her captain and that her officers and crew "saw the distress signals of the Titanic and failed to respond to them in accordance with the dictates of humanity, international usage and the requirements of law."

Might Have Saved All.

The committee concludes that the Californian might have saved all the lost passengers and crew of the ship that went down.

Eight ships, all equipped with wireless were in the vicinity of the Titanic, the Olympic farthest away—512 miles.

The mysterious lights on an unknown ship, seen by the passengers on the Titanic, less than nineteen miles away.

The full capacity of the Titanic's life boats was not utilized, because while only 706 persons were saved, the ship's boats would have carried 1,176.

No general alarm was sounded, no whistle blown and no systematic warning was given to the passengers and crew fifteen or twenty minutes after the collision before Captain Smith ordered the Titanic's wireless operator to send out a distress signal.

The Titanic's crew was only meagerly acquainted with its position and duties in accident and only one drill was held before the maiden trip. Many of the crew joined the ship only a few hours before she sailed and were in ignorance of their positions until the following Friday.

"Ice positions so definitely reported to the Titanic," says the report, "just preceding the accident, located ice on both sides of the lane in which she was traveling. No discussion took place among the officers, no conference was called to consider these warnings, no heed was given to them. The speed was not relaxed, the lookout was not increased."

Were Visible to Californian.

The committee comes to the conclusion that the Titanic's lights were visible to the Californian before she struck the iceberg, and that the Californian must have seen the distress rockets fired from the bridge of the Titanic. The report says:

"The committee is forced to the inevitable conclusion that the Californian, controlled by the same company, was nearer the Titanic than the nineteen miles reported by her captain, and that her officers and crew saw the distress signals of the Titanic and failed to respond to them in accordance with the dictates of humanity, international usage and the requirements of law. The only reply to the distress signals was a counter signal from a large white light which was flashed for nearly two hours from the mast of the Californian.

Conduct is Reprehensible.

"In our opinion such conduct, whether arising from indifference or gross carelessness, is most reprehensible and places upon the commander of the Californian a grave responsibility. The wireless operator of the Californian was not aroused until 3:30 a. m., New York time, on the morning of the 15th, after considerable conversation between officers and members of the crew had taken place aboard that ship regarding these distress signals or rockets, and was directed by the officer to see if there was anything the matter as a ship had been firing rockets during the night. The inquiry thus set on foot immediately disclosed the fact that the Titanic had sunk. Had assistance been promptly proffered, or had the wireless operator of the Californian remained a few minutes longer at his post on Sunday evening, that ship might have had the proud distinction of rescuing the lives of the passengers and crew of the Titanic."

The committee believes many more lives could have been saved could the survivors have been concentrated in a few life boats and had the boats thus

Only Mention of Ismay.

The only mention of J. Bruce Ismay occurs in a review of the messages to the White Star office in New York regarding the disaster. The first official information the committee declares was the message from Capt. Haddock, of the Olympic, received from the White Star line at 6:10 p. m. Monday, April 15. Attention is called to the fact that in the face of this information a message reporting the Titanic being towed to Halifax was sent to Representative J. A. Hughes, at Huntington, W. Va., at 7:51 p. m. that day. The message was delivered to the Western Union in the same building as the White Star line offices.

"Whoever sent this message," says the report, "under the circumstances is guilty of the most reprehensible conduct."

The committee does not believe that the wireless operator on the Carpathia was duly vigilant in handling his messages after the accident, and declared the practice of allowing wireless operators to sell their stories should be stopped. It is recommended that all ships carrying more than 100 passengers have two search lights; that a revision be made of steamship inspection laws of foreign countries to the standard proposed in the United States; that every ship be required to carry sufficient life boats for all passengers and crew; that the use of wireless be regulated to prevent interference by amateurs; and that all ships have a wireless operator on constant duty.

Detailed recommendations are made as to water tight bulkhead construction on ocean-going ships. Bulkheads forward and abaft the machinery should be continuous deck and this deck should be fitted water tight, the report says.

The committee deems the course followed by Captain Rostrom, of the Carpathia, as deserving of the highest praise and worthy of special recognition. His detailed instructions in anticipation of the rescue of the Titanic "were a marvel of systematic preparation and completeness, evincing such solicitude as calls for the highest commendation."

WANTS HADLEY TO PRESIDE.

Roosevelt Action in Opposition to Root as Temporary Chairman.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 28.—In a letter received by Governor Hedbert Hadley yesterday, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt asked him to be temporary chairman of the republican national convention to be held in Chicago if the Roosevelt forces succeed in getting control of the convention.

Mr. Hadley will accept if he believes his faction of the party will be successful, it was announced, but he would greatly prefer that some other progressive be selected for the place. He so told the colonel in a letter in answer to his request.

"Governor Hadley was one of the eight governors who wrote to Colonel Roosevelt asking him to become a candidate for president before the colonel announced that he would accept. He was one of the leaders of the Roosevelt faction of the state convention at St. Louis and was elected chairman of the convention after being defeated in committee for temporary chairman by the Taft adherents.

All Is Ready for Field Day of Public Schools at Driving Park Tomorrow

Children of the Hoagland School Preparing for Field Day Tomorrow.

Pleased over the predictions of fair weather, those in charge of the annual field day exercises of the public schools, to be held tomorrow at the Driving park, expect a record breaking attendance.

All details for the event have been completed and in order that everything moves along on schedule time and to guard against any misunderstanding, Professor Henry Meyer and his assistants Tuesday afternoon took the different event leaders to the park where they were put through final rehearsal with the City Packard band, which will furnish the music for the occasion.

After having been drilled for weeks, the children show exceptionally fine ability and in uniformity of action in the various exercises are perfect. More time has been given this year for practice and the superb accomplishments of the little tots will doubtless prove a pleasing surprise to those who have not had occasion to witness their work. Professor

Meyer is well pleased with the children and expects tomorrow's events to surpass anything of the kind before attempted in the city by school children.

More than 3,000 children will participate in the afternoon's program and in one drill alone, 2,000 will participate. The flag drill to be given by the pupils of the Clay school will be one of the pleasing features and will be among the many new drills to be staged. For the first time since field day has been observed, the men's and women's classes of the Turnverein Vorwaerts will figure in the program, the ladies' class executing an assembly dance and the men's class giving horizontal bar exercises.

The exercises will begin at 1:50 o'clock with drills and athletic work by boys of the high school. Children will be taken to the park in special cars operated from the different schools. The traction company has planned to have a sufficient number of cars on hand to take care of the crowd both in going and returning from the Driving park.

ENRILE—MAN OF MYSTERY AND CASH IN MEXICO'S REIGN OF BLOOD.

He Collects Coin with Brains—and Guns.

(By William G. Shepherd.)

Chihuahua, Mex., May 27.—Gonzalo C. Enrile, the man of mystery in the Mexican revolution, is in a hospital now with four knife wounds and a bullet hole in his chest.

He was sitting in the Plaza, alone, for he is a solitary man, when enemies attacked him and ran away, thinking him dead. But his life seems charmed. Doctors say he will recover.

GONZALO C. ENRILE AND ONE OF HIS COLLECTION SCHEMES.

All the mystery of where the Orozco money comes from is held in the brain of Enrile. This strange man has been able to secure enough funds to keep 10, 000 men clothed, fed and supplied with ammunition for three months.

Once, when the funds were low, Enrile grudgingly called a meeting of the business men and bankers of Chihuahua. Armed men were in the room.

"We are going to issue $500,000 in bonds," Enrile told them, "and these bonds are to be distributed as follows among you." He then read the list. They paid.

The power behind Enrile can only be guessed. It is sinister for Enrile is more powerful now than Orozco. He has seized the revolution and walked off with it. There is every indication that the pesos who started out to fight with Orozco for their rights, as Mexicans, are now fighting, unwittingly, to aid the very man who oppressed them during the Diaz regime.

Enrile was a Mexican diplomat under Diaz. While the revolution was developing he took no part. But once it was under way he suddenly appeared.

Intervention seems always to have been his aim. The grim power behind

LETTER TELLS OF AN ACHING HEART

Little Boy Sends Kisses and Circles Are Tears.

PAPA "AIN'T WANT US"

Indianapolis, May 27.—Painfully executed squares for kisses and little round ciphers for tears make the letter of Clifford Nelson, 7 years old, a story of loneliness and longing for mother. Clifford was found, frightened, but braving the early morning traffic near the traction and terminal station. He told a big policeman that he wished to go to Chicago and to mamma. The policeman found this letter clutched tightly in one grimy little fist:

"Dear Mamma—[In round, irregular childish letters.] I was loonsom when I can hear, so Loonsom that I was crying when I can hear. Father put me in a home; we were good but he ain't want us."

Circles Are "All Tears."

Here follows the squires with the label "Them is kisses." The circles are added with the explanation, "All tears."

Clifford escaped from the Indianapolis Orphans' home in some mysterious manner in his effort to get where it would not require written tears to reach mother. He said he was going to Chicago.

"Mother—she's got a big flat an'—an' she's got loads of money if she sells the flat," Clifford said to Captain Crane.

Martin Hugg, attorney, dropped in at central police station and read the squares and ciphers. Then he read again.

"Humph," said the attorney, a bachelor. "Let me pay his way to Chicago, will you, cap?" he asked.

Parents Have Separated.

Clifford would have accepted the offer on the jump. He was ready to go. But the orphan's home authorities wished Clifford. It was explained that Fort Wayne People Are Given Convincing Proof.

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand than the statement of a Fort Wayne resident who has been cured and has stayed cured?

George Frey, of 1235 Maumee street, Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I never found another remedy of such great merit as Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys were weak and my back pained me intensely. WATER IN CANNED GOODS.

Washington, May 28.—The board of food and drug inspection has completed its investigation of the question of how much water should be allowed in canned goods and the report is now in the hands of the printer. It will be issued soon. It is understood to have been approved by the department of agriculture and signed by the secretary. The question has been pending for some time and was brought to a head when the board held up some canned tomatoes in Richmond, Ind., which contained about 40 per cent water.

SHE'S WITH US AGAIN!

Cartoon and Verse by J. Campbell Corey.

When the sun is hot and the water blue
And the clover nods to the breeze,
Comes the summer girl with the fetching curl
And filmy gowns and teeth of pearl.
To set male hearts in a dreadful whirl
As she lolls beneath the trees.

And the dainty Miss who's the subject of this Never dreams of the havoc wrought:
With the same sunny smile, all men she'll beguile
Till her casualty list's as long as the Nile—
Each silly young man thinks he's IT for a while,
And gets scorched as all silly chaps ought.

RADIO TELEPHONY IS A CERTAINTY

New Device is to Be Regulated by the New Law Proposed.

WILL SURELY COME

Washington, May 28.—The United States senate believes that radio telephony, or wireless telephony, will soon be an accomplished fact. In a bill for a law regulating radio communication, which it is perfecting, it has abandoned the term "radio telegraphy" for "radio communication." In all the legislation up to this time on this subject the term "radio telegraphy" has been used. Senators who are working on this legislation are informed that wireless telephony will undoubtedly be in use within the next few years. Senators are told that experiments have been made both in this country and abroad for some years in carrying the human voice on Hertzian waves, but that so far only limited results have been obtained. In their study of radio communication the senators learned that radio telephony involves the application of the same principles as are involved in select and record accurately one message on a given wave length out of a mass of messages of various lengths. Numerous inventors are now striving to attain this result.

Bears Down on Amateurs.

The bill before the senate to regulate radio communication bears down rather heavily on the amateurs. During the last two or three years wireless telegraphy has been taken up by youths in nearly every city and town in the country. The proposed legislation requires all amateur operators and amateur stations to be licensed whenever they employ power for the transmission of mes-

COURT PETITION AN OLD TRAGEDY

Husband Disappears After Wife Was Found Dead.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Portland, Ind., May 28.—A mystery of more than thirty years' standing is recalled by the filing in the day county circuit court of a petition to have David Paxson declared legally dead. Paxson disappeared from his home in Penn township in 1881, and has not since been heard of.

A story is related by older residents of the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Paxson and the disappearance of her husband after a warrant had been issued charging him with the responsibility of her death.

Mrs. Paxson was found dead in bed one morning. It was known that she was in good health when she retired and the entire community was shocked at her sudden death. An investigation was ordered, which was made by Dr. Gilliam, then coroner, and Dr. C. S. Arthur. It was disclosed that the woman died without a struggle, and that she wore a clean gown, which had recently been washed. The creases made by the iron were still in the garment, and there was evidence that her face and hands had been washed after death. The story of Mrs. Paxson's death, as told by the husband, was accepted by the relatives, however, and no action was taken.

Child Finds Mother's Clothing.

In the following July the clothing worn by the dead woman was found by one of the motherless children, while at play. The clothing had been hidden in a haystack on the Paxson farm, and an investigation showed that it was covered with something that appeared to

The committee for St. John's and Prairie Grove cemeteries will meet at 6 o'clock Thursday morning at 822 Calhoun street, and a conveyance will be ready for the men. The other decorating committees will leave from the same place at 7 o'clock.

Flowers for Memorial. Owing to the backward season, flowers with which to decorate the graves of dead soldiers will undoubtedly be scarce this year. As in former years pupils of the public schools will bring their floral offerings for this purpose and to those who do not contribute in this way a direct appeal is made. All kinds of flowers from wild-wood to hot-house will be gratefully received and should be taken to 822 Calhoun street, where the wreaths and bouquets will be prepared on Wednesday, May 29, preferably in the forenoon. Flowers may also be left with the principals of the various schools where wagons will call for them shortly before 9 o'clock. Mr. Charles P. Josse, of 407 Washington boulevard west, has this work in charge.

The fact that flowers of all kinds will be scarce leads the committee in urging contributions from everybody. The soldiers' graves must be decorated and there must be enough flowers to decorate them all.

ROOSEVELT MAKES DENIAL.

Candidate Declares He Never Touches Whisky at All.

New York, May 26.—Insinuations that Colonel Roosevelt is addicted to the use of liquor, which have recently been circulated about the country, have been met by the following letter addressed by Mr. Roosevelt to William H. Hatfield, Jr., of New York:

"My Dear Mr. Hatfield: First let me thank you for all you have done for me. As for that insinuation story I hardly know whether to notice it or not. It happens that I am, as regards liquor, an exceedingly temperate man. I drink about as much as Dr. Lyman Abbott—and I say this with his permission. I never touch whisky at all, and I have never drunk a highball or a cocktail in my life. I doubt if I drink a dozen teaspoonfuls of brandy a year. It is such an infamous lie that it is a little doubtful to know what to do regarding it. Faithfully yours, T. ROOSEVELT."

Grace—I told Willie if he kissed me I would scream.
Mildred—What did he say?
Grace—He said he thought I had a very musical scream.

Farmer—Have you watered' the cows?
New Man (from city)—Nope. Not for two days. Tother day you told me they wouldn't be dry for six weeks.

Argentina's most notable natural phenomenon, the famous "Piedra Mojada," or oscillating rock, near Tandil, has fallen down. The huge rock lay upon another rock near the edge of a cliff. It swung to and fro on being touched by the hand, but the heaviest hurricane had been unable to dislodge it. The cause of its collapse, after so many hundreds of years, is a mystery.
